Dread Word, "Socialism."

(Copyright, 1928)

MR. HOOVER told 22,000 people in Madison Square Garden, and millions on the radio that Gov. Smith's program amounts to "state socialism."

That's a terrible word "SOCIALISM" and shocked when they hear it will be Raskob, Dupont, Woodin, Harkness and the other "brown derby boys" who left the Republican party to work for Smith.

To the Wall street mind, "socialism" means taking away your property, taxing your income, putting your children in a sort of state factory where they are all brought up together. But perhaps Raskob, Woodin, et al, have inside information to reassure them.

GOV. SMITH has ruled New York, and really RULED it, for many years, with no display of socialism beyond some interference when New York legislators elected on the Socialist ticket were to be kicked out, although legally elected.

WOMEN play an important part in this election.

Helen Wills is for Hoover. Rosamond Pinchot, a champion in her line, is for Smith.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, home from Europe, says Smith will surely be elected.

"Baby Peggy" of the screen, on the other hand, has left the Democratic party and is for Hoover.

MRS. E. S. DODGE dies leaving one million nineteen thousand dollars go to friends, $5,000 to a Presbyterian church the balance to relatives. Five thousand dollars out of $1,000,000 given to the Lord seems small. In old days, when heaven and hell were taken more literally, it would have been thought wise to give $900,000 of the $1,000,000 to religion and make sure of salvation.

BUT in this agnostic day many feel that the Lord does not need money, especially as he could create any amount of it by an easy miracle, whereas relatives and educational institutions DO need money, and can't perform miracles.

THAT a son is born to Princess Michael Cantacuzene in Chicago means little to the average, but a great deal to a few old men of the Grand Army, who know that Princess Cantacuzene is Gen. Grant's granddaughter.

THE only immortality of which we are certain, apart from the certainty of religious faith, is the immortality of our descendants. Each may live for thousands of years in his descendants. You that read this are descended from men that were alive on earth 500,000 years ago.

WHAT our descendants will be we cannot guess.

Gen. Grant, before opportunity came and people wondered why he didn't keep "sober," little thought that he would be the great-grandfather of a son of a Russian prince.

Descendants of Astors, Vanderbilts and Rockefellers will beg their bread a thousand years hence if begging still prevails.

Descendants of Genghis, Timur and Attila are among Mongolian laborers now scattered through Asia.

THE triennial Protestant Episcopal convention in Washington is urgently requested to recognize faith cures. In such cures the patient helps himself by believing that someone else will help him. Faith can do many things. A man was bound to a chair, his feet put in hot water and told that his feet would be cut by a razor.

THE back of a razor was drawn across the soles of the feet. Not a drop of blood was shed, but he died. What can kill can cure.

Some doctors wisely believe that faith healing should be used to help nervous patients.

AFTER Herbert Hoover's speech last night telling Gov. Smith that his policies were socialistic, Wall street brokers bet $25,000 even that Hoover will carry New York against Smith.

The odds had been on Smith previously. Mr. Hoover, of course, relies not on Gov. Smith's Socialism, but on his own constructive plans. But he knows human nature and the value of giving "something to chew on" to those that don't know much of anything.

A NEW kind of "graft" revealed in Chicago is the "banquet racket." The "banquet racketeer" seeks out a nonentity who thinks he is entitled to honor and tells him he ought to have a big banquet. The banquet is organized, and others that like to see their names in newspapers buy tickets at $10 each. The ticket costs $10. The dinner costs about $2. The racketeer takes the remaining $8. It is said this little minor racket amounts to $5,000,000 a year in Chicago alone.

FORNEY ELUDES GRAFT QUIZ

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and Racketeer Alfred W. Forney's lawyer met twice today in an effort to agree on the terms under which Forney should testify before the grand jury which is investigating graft.

They disagreed both times and as a result Forney, himself unwilling to leave the county jail to tell what he knows of the booze and slot machine rackets, was not called.

Gardner said, however, that he probably would call Forney tomorrow, regardless of agreement or disagreement with the federal prisoner's counsel, Hiram D. Hirsh.

WANTS WHOLE STORY

The district attorney left the impression that he and Forney's counsel could not agree on the conditions which Forney should testify against himself and, no doubt, others involved in the great slot machine ring. Gardner said he wanted Forney's "whole story or nothing."

Gardner had hoped to adjourn the grand jury temporarily today, but Forney's reluctance means that the jurors must reassemble tomorrow. The jury's term expires November 2 and the district Attorney said he needs all the time between now and then to draw up the presentment and indictments he will ask.

Gardner set 200 as an estimate of the indictments that would result from the evidence already in. Most of these, he said, were "small fry," but there were many whose official prominence would startle the citizens of Pittsburgh.

Three police lieutenants became involved in the great probe yesterday when Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park made in Judge James B. Drew's court what on the baseball diamond would be called a sacrifice play.

Park asked paroles for one year be granted Joseph Caldorni, East street saloonkeeper, and Caldorni's bartenders, William Berger and Leo Knette. They were charged with violating the Snyder act. Park called as witnesses in the hearing Lieuts. Harry Moore, John Callahan and John Lynch.

Park told the court the defendants had given valuable information as witnesses before the grand jury, and, in his opinion had earned

DAUGHTER LIES ILL WITH FEVER

Martha Adams, 13, stricken with scarlet fever 36 hours after her mother's death, today lies ill in her grandmother's Butler home as Butler county detectives slowly enmesh her stepfather, J. E. Jones, 38, in a web of circumstantial evidence of guilt in the death by shooting and burning of his wife, Nellie Adams Jones, in an abandoned log hut on the outskirts of the city. Here is the little Jones home and the garage which Jones operates.

WEAVE EVIDENCE NET AROUND BUTLER GARAGE MAN

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 24.—Balked in their efforts to "break" J. Earl Jones, 38, garage owner, suspected of murdering his wife, Nellie Adams Jones, and burning her body, detectives today announced they are weaving a web of circumstantial evidence around the prisoner.

Rain having washed out evidence on a tin can which detectives had hoped would place Jones on the Simpson farm about the time the murder was committed, was overcome by the finding of an empty cartridge shell at the scene of the crime and a similar loaded shell in a dresser drawer in Jones' home. No revolver has been found, although it was reported Jones had a revolver in his garage.

Jones during a 36-hour grilling parried the officers. It was said he had at various times made conflicting statements, while being questioned at State police barracks. Then he was taken out by state and county officers and his whereabouts since have been a mystery. He is not in the barracks nor the county jail.

RINGS SENT TO DAUGHTER

The rings and watch were today sent to the South McKean street home of Thomas Adams, Mrs. Jones' father, for identification. Mrs. Jones' daughter, by a former marriage, now ill of scarlet fever, is said to have identified the jewelry as that of her mother. A sister of Mrs. Jones, Mrs. James Gibson, would not make positive identification. She said the watch was similar to one owned by Mrs. Jones. She said she could not identify the rings. Neighbors however said that Mrs. Jones had worn similar rings.

CHECKING MOVEMENTS

A check on the movements of Jones on Friday night, the time of the fire, is being pushed. That is the night his wife disappeared. He is said to have told detectives that he believed his wife was playing a joke on him by remaining away, and then said he thought she was with relatives in Tarentum. Relatives in Tarentum said that when they called the Jones home on Saturday he said she was not at home, but made no mention of her whereabouts.

The charred bones and jewelry were not found until Sunday and a can which it is believed was used to scrape earth over blood stains was not found until the next day. In the meantime rain had erased fingerprints on the can.

NORRIS JOINS SMITH RANKS; TO STUMP

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24.—Senator George Norris, of Nebraska, Republican, unqualifiedly indorsed the candidacy of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential nominee, in an interview here today.

"Yes, I am for Smith," Senator Norris said. "I favor his candidacy over that of Herbert Hoover. I guess that's about all there is to it. I'll speak over a radio hook-up at Omaha Saturday night when I'll go into detail and explain my views."

Inventor Goes to Jail to Escape World's Evils

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 24.—"There's no place like home," goes a favorite song, but Charles Fox, "perpetual motion" inventor, insists that a cell in a police station is much better. He threatened to smash a plate glass window of the Rhodes Motor Company unless he was arrested, police reported.

Fox chided Magistrate J. E. Wallace for being "too lenient" in sentencing him to 90 days in the county jail, but that was the maximum allowed by law. Fox said he felt better in jail "safe from the evils of the world."

POLICE FORCED BOOZE SALE, CHARGE

"Police whisky" on the North Side was sold at $4 a quart and one storekeeper was quoted as saying he had to buy 10 gallons weekly, in testimony today in trial of a liquor conspiracy case involving four raiding township constables and a justice of the peace.

Constable Paul Sweeney, of Aleppo township, one of the defendants, testified he had been so informed by Charles Poehlman, of 697 Preble avenue.

"He told me," testified Sweeney, "that he had to buy whisky of persons designated by the police and that he had to pay $4 a quart and take 10 gallons a week."

Poehlman had testified yesterday that his place was raided by the constables and later his case was "settled" by payment of $100.

DAVIS PLEA FOR FORNEY STIRS CAPITAL TURMOIL

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Officials of the Department of Justice were in a turmoil today over an alleged leak in departmental information revealing that Secretary of Labor James J. Davis and Congressman Guy E. Campbell, of Pittsburgh, were recent callers on Attorney General John G. Sargent in an effort to obtain favorable action on the pardon application of Alfred W. Forney, convicted king of Pittsburgh slot-machine racketeers.

DAVIS RILED

Shortly after the visit of the two Pittsburghers became known late yesterday the Department of Justice, acting on a protest from Secretary Davis, initiated an investigation to ascertain the source of the information. The object was to learn whether the fact of Secretary Davis' and Mr. Campbell's visit resulted from an inside leak or whether it came from the outside.

Confronted with the reports, neither Secretary Davis nor Congressman Campbell denied that they called at the department for discussion of the case. Both have been to the department twice on the subject. Forney's case was first discussed with officials several days ago. Monday afternoon, it devel-

BOOM IN PGH. MILLS IS SHOWN IN REPORTS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

A boom in demand for steel products and a steady advance in prices this year have brought prosperity to the doors of Pittsburgh mills.

Yesterday the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, largest independent steel producer in this district and second largest in the country, declared an extra dividend of $1 a share and reported the largest net income ever shown since the company has been publishing quarterly statements.

This was the first increase in return to common stockholders since September 1, 1926 when the quarterly dividend rate was increased from $1 to $1.25. The extra declaration yesterday was made in addition to the usual quarterly dividends on the common and preferred stocks.

With production over 85 per cent of capacity J. & L. showed net profit of $4,504,906 for the three months ended September 30. This compared with $4,241,091 in the previous quarter and with $2,607,013 in the corresponding three months of 1927.

Income for the quarter was equivalent to $6.06 a share on the common stock.

REPRESENTATIVE

Jones & Laughlin's activities embrace practically every phase of steel production so that its results are representative of the earnings being shown by other operators of steel mills in this district.

VERONA HELD FEW IN VICE CASES, RECORDS SHOW

The practice of the city magistrates, aldermen, and to a lesser degree of justices of the peace, of trying themselves cases of liquor law violation, gambling and houses of ill-fame, which they are required by law to refer to the Court of Quarter Sessions, is undoubtedly a serious matter and well worthy of the attention of the grand jury, District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner admitted today. And if opportunity presents itself, he added, he will lay the situation before the graft probers.

He qualified his promise because, he said, he did not know how much time would be available for the investigation. The grand jury might easily sit for a year, he said, without exhausting the possibilities for fruitful inquiry.

It was suggested to Gardner that in the opinion of many thoughtful citizens, the illegal assumption of the higher court's authority by petty justices was the key to the solution of the problem of commercialized vice, since the dismissal of racketeers with fines never exceeding $100 amounted practically to licensing of vice. He admitted there was much to be said in behalf of that view.

Rift Between Gardner And Park Is Denied

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SAMUEL H. GARDNER was told there was gossip to the effect that he and First Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park were not in accord as to the manner in which the Verona graft charge investigation should be conducted—that rumor had it that Park was disposed to be more aggressive and that Gardner was holding him back.

"There is nothing to that story," Gardner said. "We are in entire agreement. I am not trying to restrain him. Mr. Park has a more brusque style in questioning witnesses. He barks at them sometimes, while I question them in a suaver manner. That may have given impression that he is more aggressive. Some of the jurors or witnesses may have said that he was pursuing a more vigorous course. It is just a difference in our ways of talking."

LADY HAY

Lady Grace Drummond Hay made no idle trip here in the Graf Zeppelin. She brought by air Paris' latest hats. This one is a popular wide-brim model in Paris.

POPULAR

This model, says Lady Hay, is a tight-fitting model with only a single silver arrow to break its lines. The hats, she explains, were only a few hours from the designers when the Zep left.

FIRST BY AIR

The first by air, Lady Hay boasts for these models. This is a smart close-fitting one in black, with only upturned brim and fluffy trimmings. The hats were in her baggage.

And this number, the last of her little series of four, now the admiration of New York, is also black and Spanish in air. New York still fetes Lady Hay, whose exclusive story in Pittsburgh the Sun-Telegraph printed.

FOUR DEAD AS PLANE HUNTS YOUTH

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 24.—(AP.)—The scarred bodies of four persons, who joined William Hyatt, missing Tucson hunter, in death yesterday when the plane in which they were searching for the boy crashed and burned in a lonely mountain canyon, were brought here by pack horses today.

Soon after the plane fell, carrying George Peck, Detroit, pilot;; Bruce McIntyre, University of Arizona student; Deputy Sheriff Clifford Nelson, and Harry Whitman, Tucson, passenger, to their deaths, the bullet-riddled body of Hyatt was found miles distant in the Santa Catalina Mountains.

KILLED WITH OWN GUN

The hunter, an 18-year old messenger boy missing since Sunday, apparently met death from the accidental discharge of his shotgun while hunting rabbits in sage brush.

Peck, the airplane pilot, who gained recognition in the air reliability tour last summer, volunteered the services of his plane when a search was organized for the youth yesterday.

Foot searchers saw his plane falter and fall, and soon after it disappeared from view, a column of smoke curled upward.

McIntyre, 19, was the son of George McIntyre, of Omaha, and nephew of former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, publisher of the Omaha World-Herald.

ship, another defendant constable, testified that Poehlman had said he was forced to buy liquor from Anthony Puniak, of 2823 Preble avenue, and that on this information Puniak's place was raided. Eighty gallons of liquor was confiscated.

Abe Berkowitz, whose tip is said to have resulted in the federal grand jury liquor ring probe last June, went to Neville Island and gave information to the constables concerning Puniak, Groom testified.

The defense, which opened today, indicated an attempt would be made to prove that the constables had been "framed" by police for invading protected territory in the lower North Side.

FACE GRAVE CHARGES

Besides Sweeney and Groom, those on trial in Criminal Court are Justice of the Peace C. J. Ranshaw, Neville township; Constable Frank Hartz, Neville township, and Constable Raymond Bengle, of Aleppo township. All are charged with conspiracy to defraud, extortion, malfeasance and blackmail, in connection with alleged settlement of cases against Manchester saloonkeepers and speakeasy proprietors.

Constable Sweeney testified that in raiding Poehlman's place among others last March, he and his fellow officers had warrants. He said the liquor confiscated was not turned over to a government warehouse, but had been taken to Squire Ranshaw's office.

"Do you know anything about this liquor being seized by Stowe township police while it was being transported to a roadhouse," Sweeney was asked.

Justice of the Peace Ranshaw admitted that of 150 cases heard by him in the first quarter of 1928, all had been discharged. These included robbery, forgery and liquor cases.

Ranshaw testified he had seen $375 on the floor of his office that had been dropped by Puniak, just before detectives entered his office, at a signal from Puniak, but he said he didn't know anything about the money.

Find Parrots, Dogs, Cats Are Registered to Vote

International News Service.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 24.

WHOLESALE illegal registration in Atlantic county is charged today by Prosecutor Louis A. Repetto, who will attempt to strike 2,379 names, said to be illegally entered, from the county registry lists next week.

"A pet parrot whose name is John Talk, dogs and house cats, men and women long dead, and others whose given residences are vacant lots, names of other pets, the names of actual residents who never voted are forged on the list," said the prosecutor. "Names of children who have not yet attained school age are used."

Prosecutor Repetto is a Democrat. About 85 per cent of the names to be stricken from the lists are Republicans, it is reported.

BANK EMBEZZLER GIVEN 15-MONTH PRISON TERM

John Camillo's private banking venture netted him 15 months in the federal prison. This sentence was imposed by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar today after Camillo had pleaded guilty to embezzling moneys and credits of the Citizens National Bank of Ellwood City, where he was manager of the foreign department.

The bank, it was testified, had to make good $6,355, which Camillo had embezzled in his private banking scheme.

Patrons of the Citizens Bank, who had money on deposit in foreign banks, had arranged for the transfer of their money to the Ellwood City Bank, but instead of acting as an agent of the bank, it was testified, Camillo acted as an individual and diverted all or part of various transfers to his own use between May 1, 1927, and January 18 of this year. He has made restitution of $2,100 and given a note for the balance.

BOOM SHOWN IN PGH. MILLS

business has been shown. Ingot production of all mills in this district is close to 90 per cent of capacity.

Prices of bars, plates and shapes, the three leading items of steel production, have been advanced $3 a ton over the levels prevailing at the end of 1927. Attempts are being made to establish a further advance of $2 a ton.

Greater activity in the mills has resulted in advances in the raw products for steel making. Pig iron has been advanced 50 cents to $1 a ton in price this week and scrap has also turned upward 25 cents.

The high rate of automobile production has contributed its share to the growing steel business here but it has not been the only factor. Practically every steel-consuming industry is running at better than a normal rate except the railroad car builders and there have been signs of improvement in that quarter.

Faith in the continued growth of profits of the steel business was evidenced yesterday by the announcement by James A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, that his organization has made plans for expansion at the Indiana Harbor plant in the Chicago district. These will cost several million dollars.

TUBE EXPANSION

"An expansion of the open hearth steel units will increase the steel capacity of the plant 30,000 tons a month," Mr. Campbell said. "The new plant will employ several hundred men."

An expansion in the capacity of Youngstown Sheet and Tube is significant since about two years ago Mr. Campbell said that the return on capital invested in the steel business was too small and for that reason his company was only making expenditures on plants which would reduce costs and was not expanding except to balance production in various departments.

a parole. Then he put the police lieutenants on the stand and asked them, under oath, if they knew Caldorni's source of liquor supply.

"No!" they chorused.

Park was immensely pleased.

The paroles were granted.

During the day there were summoned before the jury two more aldermen, Patrick Cawley, of Smithfield street, and F. D. Holleran, of 4201 Penn ave. They followed Alderman George S. Wilson, of East Liberty, and his constable, George P. Andrews. Cawley and Holleran found Park still inquisitive concerning slot machine raids and the disposal of money found in seized machines.

One of the witnesses waiting to testify today was Herman Steubenrach, one of the investigators of the late Citizens League. Steubenrach was prepared to tell the grand jurors how he was beaten up when he went to the Paramount Inn in Wylie avenue to collect evidence in the league's vice crusade.

VERONA'S RECORD SHOWS FEW HELD FOR COURT

that Magistrate John J. Verona during his nine months at No. 2 Police Station this year had held for court only one defendant in a liquor case and only one in a lottery case, a check was made of the docket at No. 2 station for the period when Verona was there.

Examination of the record showed that from January to September, both inclusive, Verona tried 187 cases in which the charge was keeping a disorderly house. In 81 of the cases he discharged the defendants. In 60 cases a fine of $25 was imposed; in 23 cases a fine of $10; in 12 cases a fine of $50; in three cases a fine of $100; in two cases a fine of $2, and in one case a fine of $15. The docket shows two cases held for court, and three are marked "held over," but do not indicate the final disposition.

Inspector James N. Hoey, who has been at No. 2 Police Station during the entire period under consideration, in the earlier part of the year as captain and since August as inspector, stated that in practically every case in which a charge of keeping a disorderly house was made by the police there was evidence of liquor selling, gambling or commercialized immorality. Once in a long while, Hoey said, the charge of keeping a disorderly house would be brought when nothing was involved but fighting or disorder. But that was exceptional.

In addition to holding court as a magistrate Verona also officiated and still does as alderman of the Third Ward.

FEW HELD

His police court record in the matter of cases of keeping a disorderly house was picked out for scrutiny merely because the number of cases he had held for court was conspicuously small. The practice that he followed is believed to have been more or less general.

Verona's record was called to District Attorney Gardner's attention, and he admitted it was a serious matter.

"We have tried to jack up the aldermen and magistrates in this matter again and again," he remarked.

"Are they not liable to a more grave charge than mere neglect of duty?" he was asked. "Are they not guilty of malfeasance?"

"They may be," he admitted.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon, who, the records show, held 48 liquor cases for court this year, as against one by Verona, one by Magistrate John J. Sweeney, two by Magistrate George H. England, two by Magistrate John A. Staley, Jr., four by Magistrate John Orie, nine by Magistrate William Soost, and 20 by Magistrate E. M. Hough, issued a statement today in which he said he had been informed by the city law department that it was legal to impose fines in cases involving violation of the Snyder act. Judge James Drew, presiding in Quarter Sessions Court, had informed him, however, that all such cases must be held for court, and he had been following that course.

Magistrate Brandon's statement follows:

"In this discussion of holding for court all violators of the laws governing liquor, gambling and immoral women, let me say that I have a clear conscience. In the last two years I have held for court about 2,000 cases—that is, about 2,000 indictments have been returned against 1,500 or 1,600 individuals. This is about four times the number held for court by my predecessor on the Morals Court bench in the same length of time.

ADMITS FINING

"But I readily admit that I have imposed fines on violations of the liquor laws, instead of holding them for court. When I first became magistrate I was informed by the city law department, upon my inquiry, that under city ordinance it was legal to impose fines, rather than hold for court, persons accused of keeping disorderly houses, even though the evidence indicated violation of the Snyder act. Under this opinion, I fined some of the persons, holding others for court.

"Recently I consulted Judge Drew and he advised me that every case of violation of the Snyder act must be held for court and not disposed of by the magistrate, in case a prima facie case had been made out against the suspect. The City Law Department, when I told them of this, replied that if the judge had so declared, his opinion should be followed. Since that time I have held for court every liquor case, where a prima facie case has been established. I shall continue to follow this policy.

OTHER CASES

"As for the necessity of holding for court all persons charged with violation of the gambling laws—or else discharging them—I can recall this year, for example, eight lottery cases. Seven were held for court. The eighth I let off under a disorderly house charge, believing the woman involved was small fry, nowhere near those profiting by the lottery.

"Then there are the cases of immorality, of commercialized vice. When these cases reach me, virtually every charge is that of keeping a disorderly house. Now, the City Law Department holds that magistrates do have the legal right to fine these people. They give fictitious names, fictitious addresses. They are floaters. Where is your case by the time it reaches the grand jury? It's gone, nine times out of ten. So, my policy has been—although I have held many for court and all for health examination—to get their promise to leave, and, in addition, to get in touch with the realty agent, where we knew the correct address, and to be sure that these women moved. The real estate men have been co-operating to a marked degree in cancelling leases. Our object was to put them out of business.

"You will remember the long fight I had to drive out these street women, sending 125 to the workhouse without a fine, until the County Court reversed me, after the Common Pleas court had upheld me in 18 or 20 cases.

"It is well to bear in mind that Morals Court exists for a particular reason—to improve the welfare of those called before it, the cases involving women and minors, as well as to carry out the mere letter of the law. We work in the closest co-operation with the seven welfare organizations which have representatives in the court and outside agencies, representing every race, color and religion. In those cases of minor and first offenses against the law, and young girls who have gone astray, these Christian men and women are unselfishly devoting their lives to helping these poor unfortunates. And if I am compelled to hew to the strictest letter of the law, untempered by mercy and commonsense, in this type of case, it will make ineffective the work of the Welfare Department and kill the real purpose for which the court was organized."

Literary World Shocked By Death of McCutcheon

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.

HUNDREDS of authors and journalists who claimed George Barr McCutcheon as a friend today were shocked by the death of the noted novelist, author of "Graustark" and "Brewster's Millions," who fell dead at a luncheon here yesterday.

George Barr McCutcheon

The novelist's stepson, William Fay, planned to take the body of Mr. McCutcheon to Lafayette, Ind., tomorrow for burial in the family plot.

Fay and Charles Hanson Towne, editor of "Harper's Bazaar" and Mr. McCutcheon's closest friend, were making funeral arrangements and summoning relatives.

The novelist's widow, the former Mrs. Marie Van Antwerp Fay, of Chicago, had been ill and was prostrated by the shock of his death. Mr. McCutcheon had been suffering from heart trouble and had been forbidden by his physician to take any strenuous exercise.

In explanation of his visit, it was stated in behalf of Secretary Davis that he "had no interest in the case" and had not sought to procure a pardon for the racketeer, and did not know Forney. Beyond this he was not available for comment.

KNOWS FORNEY KIN

Sources of information from which the whole revelations spring have it that Forney's father is an acquaintance of the cabinet officer. This was given as the chief reason for his interest.

In Congressman Campbell's behalf it is explained that he was brought into the case by a mutual friend who represented that District Attorney John D. Meyer, of Pittsburgh, wanted Forney released for testimony and assistance in further prosecutions in Allegheny county. He likewise denies knowing Forney and said he had received no communication from the racketeer or his friends concerning efforts to obtain a pardon. He states that he called at the department to back up a recommendation for release previously filed by Meyer. While the two Pittsburghers were in conference with the Attorney General, James A. Finch, pardon attorney for the department, was called in. He is understood to have brought the complete record of the pardon application and a general discussion of the merits of the case ensued. Attention of Secretary Davis and Mr. Campbell was said to have been called to a number of vigorous protests against clemency filed by prominent Pittsburgh citizens.

Under department regulations, the attorney general may do one of three things in the case. He may send a favorable recommendation to the White House for consideration of President Coolidge. He may send an adverse report recommending that the pardon be denied. Or he may ignore the application and decline to make a recommendation one way or the other.

Unless powerful political influences are brought to bear it appears at this stage that no recommendation of any description will be made.

Just preceding the last visit of Secretary Davis and Congressman Campbell, Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington, of Pittsburgh, called at the department to enter a personal protest against Forney's release. It develops that he came to Washington primarily for that purpose. Strong protests against the pardon also on file from enforcement officials of the treasury department.

HOOVER'S EYES ON WEST

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Having wound up his eastern campaign for the presidency, Herbert Hoover today studied national reaction to his New York address and planned the itinerary of his transcontinental trip to the coast on the eve of the election.

MID-WEST TALK

The Republican nominee's next effort will be a speech in St. Louis, about November 2, which will constitute his final appeal to the Middle West. In that address, the candidate will make a particular bid for the German vote in St. Louis in the hope of swinging Missouri, a doubtful state, into the Republican column. He also will take the opportunity to touch upon problems affecting the Mississippi Valley, a bid for support in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Tennessee, Kentucky and Arkansas.

Hoover will make this speech while en route to his Stanford University, Cal., home to vote in the November election. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and his sons, Herbert, Jr., and Allan, all of whom will vote in the election. Incidentally it will be the first vote for Allan, who recently came of age.

TALKS TO DELEGATION

Mr. Hoover was visited today by a group of civic leaders to whom he made a brief talk.

"The great tasks of life saving in which it was my privilege to have a part with you, are, thank God, things of the past, and today we look at a more hopeful world," he said. "The disaster of the war is behind us. Today we have but one problem before us—to bring up those who lay in the great march of progress to the front ranks—for we are all marching.

"I should like only to add that this great relief work in which the lives of tens of millions were preserved was only possible by the whole-hearted generosity of my countrymen and women who always respond to the call of need without regard to nationality or religion."

day flight tomorrow morning at dawn.

There is a possibility that the Graf Zeppelin may leave before midnight tonight. Hugh Allen, of the Goodyear Zeppelin Company, who is handling the booking for the trip, has notified passengers to be ready to leave either between 6 o'clock this evening and midnight, or early tomorrow.

The passengers will include Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics; E. P. Warner, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics; W. P. Mac Cracken, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics; Col. John A. Paegelow, Commanding Officer of Scott Field, Belleville, Ill.; Lieutenant Frank McGee, Commanding Officer of Norton Field, Columbus, Ohio, and Lucius M. Boomer, hotel magnate.

According to the tentative itinerary the huge air liner will fly over Pittsburgh, Belleville, Ill., and St. Louis on the outward trip and will return by way of Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo, reaching Lakehurst Friday night.

Candidate Will Sing Instead Of Speaking

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 24.—(INS.)—Eugene J. O'Mara, of South Orange, N. J., Democratic candidate for Congress, announced here today that he will henceforth sing at campaign meetings, and make only short speeches. He declared he is a "better singer than a speaker."

MEN, NOT PARTY, CHIEF ISSUE, SAYS HUGHES

International News Service.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 24.—The paramount issue in the coming election is whether Herbert Hoover or Gov. Al Smith is the better equipped man to fill the presidential office, declared Charles Evans Hughes in the first of a series of five speeches which the former Secretary of State will make on behalf of the Republican party.

"The question is between Smith and Hoover, and I decidedly prefer Hoover," Mr. Hughes said. "It is not merely a question between two parties. It is not merely a question of qualifications possessed by one or the other of these men. The primary question is, Which one, for this highest office, is the better of these two men?"

The voters, he pointed out, are the ones to determine what policies would make for prosperity and security for the nation.

Mr. Hughes stressed the need of economy in the administration. He said that the Republican party had always stood for such a program and that no misleading or cluttering statements could alter the fact.

CONTINUE POLICIES

"The way to buttress our prosperity and to give every one —employer and employed, producer and consumer—feeling of greater security as he looks forward to the next four years with all their uncertainties, to secure the most earnest effort under competent leadership to deal with all economic difficulties that confront us, is to continue the policies of the Republican party under the presidency of Herbert Hoover."

Mr. Hughes denounced every effort to inject the religious question into the campaign. He declared that he had no patience with bigotry and characterized himself as "intolerant of intolerance."

The former secretary, who in the past has spoken favorably of Gov. Al Smith as New York's chief executive, asserted that the Democratic nominee has a thorough knowledge of the government of that state.

"But it is a poor argument," he continued "which says that we should elect a governor because of his intimate knowledge of state affairs, but should not chose a president because of his knowledge of national affairs."

WET-DRY STRADDLE

Turning to the issues of the campaign, Mr. Hughes said that Gov. Smith had no chance for election without the votes of the dry South.

"He is trying to gain the presidency by getting enough wet votes in the South," continued the former secretary, "the drys are asked to support him because he can do nothing and the wets because he can do much."

Mr. Hughes could find no trace of the League of Nations issue in the Democratic platform or any definite issue as to foreign affairs.

"The Democratic platform speaks of limitation of armament but presents no program," he added.

In summing up the Latin American situation Mr. Hughes called attention to the record of the last Democratic administration in respect to these countries.

"It was that administration," said Mr. Hughes, "which intervened in Santo Domingo and Hati. The Republican administration inherited the situation and demonstrated its anti-imperialistic policy by perfecting arrangements for withdrawal from Santo Domingo which was effected."

Mr. Hughes declared that the Democratic party had no real farm relief policy and expressed the belief that Hoover was the only man in the country capable of dealing with the farm problem.

Close Five Roads in County

Five county roads were ordered closed to traffic today from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. except Sundays and holidays by the county public works department. The roads are being resurfaced.

The roads closed are Country Club, Sewickley Heights township; West Run, Mifflin township; Three Degree and Middle, Shaler and Hampton townships; Bower Hill, Upper St. Clair township, and Mt. Carmel, Penn township.

Public Works Director Norman F. Brown also announced that reconstruction work on Fleming Park, Kennedy and Stowe townships and Homestead Park roads, Mifflin township, is progressing favorably. These are dirt roads and traffic has been closed since the work was started some time ago.

DRIVER HELD UP IN TAXICAB

A revolver placed against the back of his head early today caused Harry Lanison, a cab driver, of 85 Magee street, to stop his taxi in Webster avenue, near Kirkpatrick street, and turn $10 over to an unidentified Negro who held the gun.

Lanison told police at the Center Avenue Police Station that he had been hired by the Negro at Wylie avenue and Elm street and upon reaching Webster avenue was robbed.

JEWS HONOR FALK; BURIAL TODAY

Leon Falk, Pittsburgh philanthropist who died Saturday night at Rochester, Minn., was buried this morning. While funeral services were being conducted in his home in Woodland road at 10:30 o'clock, all activities were discontinued at the Y. M. & W. H. A. as a mark of respect to the memory of Mr. Falk, a director of the organization.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of the Free Synagogue, New York, with Rabbi I. E. Philo, of Akron, O., and Rabbi Samuel H. Goldenson, of the Rodef Shalom Congregation, Pittsburgh, conducted the services. The active pallbearers were the oldest employes of the Duquesne Reduction Company, a company headed by Mr. Falk.

The honorary pallbearers were: John G. Bowman, E. T. Weir, J. P. Beggs, William Gardner, Charles M. Thorpe, Judge Josiah Cohen, Leon Wertheimer, Charles Dreifus, Samuel A. SMITH ON AIR; REED HERE SATURDAY

The descent of the Democratic forces on Pennsylvania Saturday night will be centered in the Gayety Theater, when a Democratic rally will be addressed by the two outstanding campaigners of the party, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, and United States Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri.

Gov. Smith, speaking in Philadelphia, will be heard over the air under an unusual arrangement by County Chairman David L. Lawrence, who said that a radio and loud speakers will be installed in the theater to broadcast the candidate's talk. At its conclusion, Senator Reed will address the rally.

In anticipation of a capacity crowd expected to be drawn to the rally by the fiery Missourian, amplifiers will be placed in the theater lobby and in Duquesne way, Chairman Lawrence stated.

Meetings scheduled for tonight are in Snodgrass School, Sweetbriar street; halls Grove School, Hall and Shelby streets; Turtle Creek, in 111 Ninth street and Belle-vernon. A street meeting will be held on East street at Madison avenue.

A Democratic tea is being held this afternoon in the home of Mrs. Fred Daker, Glasgow road, Forest Hills. The Fourth Ward Smith Club will hold a card party tomorrow evening in Elks Temple, Seventh street. Mrs. B. C. Tatum is chairman. A number of card parties will be held by Democratic women during the week.

Van A. Barrickman, former assistant United States attorney here, is the principal speaker at the meeting in the Al Smith Club, Seventh street, at 12:15 noon today.

At 8 o'clock tonight Attorneys Paul G. Sullivan and J. P. O'Connor will speak in the club, following which Gov. Smith's Boston speech will be broadcast in the club.

MASSACHUSETTS GIVES SMITH OVATION

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 24.—Swinging by train over the Republican stronghold of the Berkshire Hills, Gov. Alfred E. Smith this afternoon before a large crowd at the railroad station here fired the opening gun of his "battle of the Atlantic seaboard."

En route from Albany, N. Y., to Boston to deliver an address and to receive the plaudits of thousands, the Democratic presidential nominee stopped in this city for 10 minutes—the first stop in his Atlantic seaboard tour.

The Smith special train pulled in shortly after 1 p. m., a tremendous crowd was on hand.

The One Hundred and Fourth Regiment band of Springfield and two drum corps from Holyoke, heading a delegation of 300 persons from that city, furnished the music.

WALSH MEETS SMITH

United States Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, candidate for reelection, and Gen. Charles H. Cole, Democratic nominee for governor, met Gov. Smith here.

The great crowd from this and surrounding industrial cities gave the Democratic presidential nominee a great ovation as his train arrived.

Senator Walsh explained to the assembly—estimated at 25,000 persons—that physicians had ordered Gov. Smith not to speak out of doors; that he had an important message to deliver tonight in Boston and that he had decided to conserve his voice and not speak en route. Gov. Smith waved his famous brown derby in response to cheers.

The train had been shifted to a siding of the Boston and Albany Railroad yard here, adjacent to an opening which was packed solid with shouting and cheering humanity. Walking with Mrs. Smith down a board walk to the platform the Governor was accorded one of the wildest welcomes ever given to a political candidate here, according to observers.

The Democratic presidential nominee was formally welcomed to Springfield by a Republican, Mayor Fordis C. Parker, acting officially as mayor. Gen. Cole spoke briefly.

A dozen floral pieces were presented to Mrs. Smith.

As the special train pulled out for Worcester, Gov. Smith was standing on the platform of his private car waving his brown derby and the band and the drum corps were blazing away with "The Sidewalks of New York."

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that produced the cloudy and rainy weather over this section yesterday is now in the far Northeast. Lowest barometer is 29.44, at Eastport, Me. High pressure covers the entire interior of the country, with its crest in the form of a ridge extending from Alberta southeastward over Montana and the Plains states to Texas and Louisiana. The high is attended by clear skies generally, and moderately cold, except in Northern Montana and in Alberta and Saskatchewan, where real winter weather prevails. The temperature is 22 at Havre, Mont., and 20 degrees north of Montana in Canada, first frost occurred in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Tennessee, with the city temperatures near 40 degrees.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.2 feet. Dam No. 2, 8.6, and Dam No. 4, 7.8. The dams are up. The lower Ohio River is still at low stages and falling.

ROBERTSON TO FACE QUIZ BY ALLIED TRADE BOARDS

A move to investigate the general transportation situation here in Pittsburgh will be made tonight at a dinner of the Allied Boards of Trade in the Congress of Women's Clubs, Penn avenue.

One of the first steps will be the preparation of a list of questions which will be put to A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company and the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

The special meeting of the transportation committee will follow a regular meeting of the organization at which time State Senator Frank J. Harris will speak on the voting machine amendment while Prof. Ralph H. Boots of the University of Pittsburgh discusses other amendments to be voted on at the November election.

The Allied Boards of Trade organized a special committee to investigate the transportation situation here several weeks ago. C. V. Shoup, of West View, was named chairman of the special committee and he has for his assistants the officers and directors of the allied organization and one representative from each of the 48 component bodies.

NOT GUILTY SAYS JURY, SENTENCED BY JUDGE

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 24.—(AP.)—A. Robinson was acquitted of a charge of violating the prohibition law here yesterday by a jury, but was sentenced to six months in jail by the court.

The sentence, however, was imposed by mistake and the court quickly checked himself and apologized to the erstwhile defendant.

Attaches of the Federal Court explained that the judge who had been trying so many prohibition cases in which the defendants were found guilty had imposed the sentence through force of habit.

PRESIDENT CALLS NATION TO THANKSGIVING NOV. 29

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—President Coolidge issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation today by calling upon the people to offer thanks on Thursday, November 29, for prosperity in agriculture, industry and commerce, and for the peace which has existed in the last year.

The proclamation said the country as a whole had been protected against pestilence and disaster and had been directed in the way of national prosperity. It follows:

"By the President of the United States.

"A Proclamation.

"The season again approaches when it has been the custom for generations to set apart a day of thanksgiving for the blessings which the giver of all good and perfect gifts has bestowed upon us during the year. It is most becoming that we should do this, for the goodness and mercy of God which has followed us through the year deserve our grateful recognition and acknowledgement.

CITES PROSPERITY

"Through His divine favor, peace and tranquility have reigned throughout the land. He has protected our country as a whole against pestilence and disaster and has directed us in the way of national prosperity. Our fields have been abundantly productive; our industries have flourished; our commerce has increased; wages have been lucrative and contentment has followed the undisturbed pursuit of honest toil.

"As we have prospered in material things, so have we also grown and expanded in things spiritual. Through divine inspiration, we have enlarged our charities and our missions; we have been imbued with high ideals which have operated for the benefit of the world and the promotion of the brotherhood of man through peace and good will.

CALL TO WORSHIP

"Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November, next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and I recommend that on that day the people shall cease from their daily work and in their homes and in their accustomed places of worship devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received, and seek His guidance that they may deserve a continuance of His favor.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

"Done at the city of Washington, this 23rd day of October, in the year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-Eight, and of the independence of the United States, and one hundred and fifty-third.

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

BOND AMENDMENTS MAY BOOST TAX, LEWIS WARNS

CHINATOWN IN HIDING, TONG WAR STILL ON

The Pittsburgh sector in the great American tong war is quiet.

Business is dull—only the laundries and the restaurants catering to white trade are functioning, and there are exceptions in these.

Hatchet men—and six are believed to be in hiding with their pistols slung from their hips—are waiting the word from New York to nick their men, or return to Mott street.

Chinatown, whether the concentrated downtown Chinatown or the integral bits scattered throughout the county, is clothed with bullet-proof steel. Its men and women are shifting, and their faces wear the Oriental mask. But beneath the calm, rages the constant fear of surprise and death.

The Tong War still is on.

That's the situation, despite last week's rumor that the conflict between the Hip Song Tong and the On Leong Tong had been settled, their differences satisfied, the truce signed.

The rumor was false. It was simply born of the hopes of many of the more sensible members of the two societies—and didn't materialize because the Chinese consul in New York, who was to be the mediator of their difficulties, was absent from the city and had not returned. And New York is the Chinese-American Mecca, and Mott street its pulse-beat.

Today there are no signs of war. Chinese are like that. Departed from Pittsburgh's Chinatown are the blue-coated patrolmen and sleuths that for a week guarded its doorways and infested its narrow aisles and alleys.

The reason—?

Each detective costs the tong seeking protection $10 a day; each patrolman $5 a day. They wanted only detectives—about 10 a day. And they were on duty a week. That's almost $1,000.

Well, the Chinese just can't afford it.

MANUFACTURER MAY PAY, HE SAYS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—A warning that approval by the voters of Pennsylvania of the constitutional amendments providing for bond issues, to be voted upon November 6, may increase state taxes, necessitating a real or personal property tax or state income tax and remove the manufacturers' exemption from state tax, was sounded by State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis in an address at the Manufacturers' Club here.

"It is impossible to determine the ultimate result," he declared. "Serious consequences may easily follow. In all probability the Commonwealth must find additional sources of revenue."

State tax exemption to manufacturers "is largely responsible for the building up of great industries in Pennsylvania," Mr. Lewis said. "A manufacturer's tax would be particularly harmful to Pennsylvania in a period of keen competition such as at present, when the South is holding out so many inducements in the way of tax exemption and cheap labor to lure away the industries of the North."

This warning was not directed against proposed constitutional amendments, such as that to permit use of voting machines, not involving bond issues.

LOSE THIS BLESSING

Unlike other states, where citizens pay real or personal or income taxes, Pennsylvania has avoided taxing individuals for state purposes, its revenues coming mainly from corporations, automobile fees and gasoline tax, the State Treasurer pointed out.

"Shall we rush blindly into additional debt and wipe out this blessing?" he asked.

Approval of the bond issues in November would increase the state's bonded indebtedness by $138,000,000, advancing it from $93,221,000 to $231,221,000. A huge price must be paid for this increase, which would sanction an interest charge aggregating $85,560,000, Mr. Lewis asserted, saying, "A bond issue dollar, therefore, is worth only 62 cents."

Pay-as-you-go was the expressed attitude of the state treasurer.

"Why should we go in debt for that for which we can pay cash?" he demanded.

He said that with a cash balance in the treasury of at least $25,000,000 at the end of the present biennium and on the assumption that the next biennium revenues will increase in the ratio of the last biennium and the 1929 legislature makes as liberal appropriations as the 1927 legislature, there should be $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 immediately available for the projects for which bond issues are asked.

ENOUGH REVENUES

Current revenues are sufficient, according to Mr. Lewis, because of the remarkabe change in the condition of state finances. Six years ago there was $200,000 in the general fund in the state treasury, with unpaid bills of $18,000,000, whereas last Friday the general fund balance was $35,185,277, with all current bills paid, he said.

The bond issues were proposed more than three years ago and conditions have changed since, while the bond issues are more than adequate for the purpose. "I ask why the state should borrow $25,000,000 for forest land, when the best authorities declare $9,000,000 is sufficient?" he asked.

If the proposed $50,000,000 road bond issue is approved, Mr. Lewis said the State Highway Department instead of having a current revenue of $16,000,000 annually for new construction, must curtail its activities by $3,500,000, the annual interest and sinking fund charge. This may result in increased gasoline taxes, automobile fees or appropriation from the general fund for highway purposes, Mr. Lewis said.

"For the doubtful pleasure of spending $50,000,000 in three or four years the people of Pennsylvania are asked to pay $31,000,000 interest," he declared.

The concrete road contracted for at $50,000 a mile will cost in reality $81,000 a mile, according to the treasurer.

"There are signs which lead me to believe a gasoline tax of four or five cents a gallon is not far distant if this bond issue is approved," he said.

Cold Means Nothing to Race Enthusiast!

Driving in the open, in all kinds of weather, even those who are used to it will contract colds. They needn't worry anyone who knows a certain compound that comes in plain, white tablets. It kills a cold so quickly you can hardly believe it's the tablet that did it. Just one heads off a cold that's coming on; a bad cold you've had for several days may take several.

Even "flu" gives in to Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can give you, for thirty-five cents. Everyone has suggestions when you have a cold, but this one works!

HERE IS INSTANT RELIEF FOR DEAFNESS

Head Noises, Ear Aches

Roaring and hissing sounds, discharge, pains, sensitive and tender ears, all ear drum trouble. You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine Ear Balsam can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M. D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatments and enjoy the glorious relief that more than 100,000 others have found in Aurine. A few drops in each ear and relief comes instantly. Mr. R. P. Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring." No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine. No risk, no chance, no doubt, Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing.

BUGS BAER Says

THE campaign has reached that delicate stage where the candidates are speaking straight from the shoulder, conversing with the elbows and explaining with the wrists.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

They are also handling things without gloves and pulling stuff out of the sleeves.

Both candidates are speaking about water power. Any good bootlegger can tell you there ain't no power in water.

We like the old-fashioned campaigns when honor was worth two dollars a vote.

When candidate spoke for six hours straight without approaching the subject. What's become of those magnificent statesmen with high silk hats, low woolen sox and bruised whiskers which looked like a bearded Niagara cascading over a rainbow of soup and egg stains?

Every argument was meat for the cranial machinery of the old-timer even though it emerged from his mouth in the form of verbal frankfurters.

When the old-timer viewed with alarm his eyebrows semaphored disaster and his eyes looked like portholes in the wreck of the Hesperus.

When he pointed with pride he held his finger out so that the audience could watch the nail grow.

He was a man who believed what he spoke until forced into a denial.

He had the courage of his convictions but was always out on bail.

He was for hospitals for the healthy, a full dinner pail for the dyspeptics and playgrounds for the aged and feeble.

His lamp lighted the way to prosperity but you had to furnish the oil and the wick.

He was always running for office and from officers.

He was a man among a million.

But he could also pick up a living among a thousand.

When you had to choose between him and his opponent, the third and most popular choice was an exit.

He believed that you must break eggs to make omelets and that a little bacon wouldn't hurt, either.

He was a second Moses who struck the rock and applesauce gushed forth. His only fault was that he was so busy saving the country that he lost all the states.

WOMEN'S REGISTRATION HERE UP 40 PER CENT

The outstanding part to be taken by women in the November election in Allegheny county is emphasized by complete figures on registered and enrolled electors just tabulated by Gilbert C. Cloonan, statistician in the county commissioners' office.

The record enrollment shows 472,134 eligible voters in the county, divided into 259,729 men and 212,405 women. This enrollment is 31 per cent higher than in 1924, when the totals were 360,111, 206,408 men and 153,703 women. It is 10 per cent higher than in 1927, when 428,606 citizens, 278,389 men and 150,217 women were eligible to vote.

The feature of the enrollment is that although the number of women increased 38 per cent over 1924 and 40 per cent over 1927, the number of men eligible to vote in 1928 decreased 7 per cent from the 1927 total. The total of men voters for 1928, however, increased 25 per cent over the 1924 total.

SUBURBS' VOTE BIG

An extremely heavy enrollment in the county outside Pittsburgh is shown by the figures. Deducting the totals of voters registered in the city, or 105,106 men and 78,667 women, a total of 183,773, the total of voters enrolled in the county is 288,361, comprising 154,623 men and 133,738 women. The increase of 1928 over 1924 and 1927, however, is greater in the city. The city registration increased 44 per cent over 1924, while the total enrollment, including the city registration, increased 31 per cent, and the increase over 1927 is 19 per cent in the city and 10 per cent for the county, including the city.

The Republican enrollment in the county, including city, is compared as follows:

	Men.	Women.	Total.
1928	225,233	181,814	405,047
1927	252,996	133,710	386,706
1924	185,201	136,029	321,230

Democratic enrollment in the county, including the city, is compared as follows:

	Men.	Women.	Total.
1928	31,629	26,855	56,484
1927	19,680	13,258	32,938
1924	15,923	13,467	29,390

Other party enrollment in Allegheny county for 1928, completing the tabulation, compared to the two other years, shows:

Labor—	Men.	Women.	Total.
1927	313	100	413
1924	368	197	565

EX-ALDERMAN DIES IN SOHO HOME

Charles Kaltenhauser, 65, for many years an alderman, died last night in his home at 2205 Forbes street. Mr. Kaltenhauser gained fame because of his large size. At one time he weighed more than 400 pounds. He lived all his life in the district now known as Soho and served as alderman for six terms. His first term began 1902.

Chauffeur Held For Driving Elopers

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 24.—Said to have been the chauffeur who drove the machine in which Maryannon Kelly, 16, and James Keys, 21, both of Connellsville, eloped, Theodore Johnson, a Negro, was held for court by U. S. Commissioner Charles M. Fee on charges of violation of the Mann white slave act and transporting a stolen automobile into another state. Keys, who was arrested in Pittsburgh, is to be brought here for a hearing before Commissioner Fee.

U. S. HOLDS TWO P. O. CLERKS

Robert J. McMinn and Russell C. Thompson, clerks in the New Castle, Pa., postoffice, yesterday were held for court at a hearing before the United States commissioner, on a charge of embezzling and secreting letters. They were arrested on complaints filed by Postoffice Inspector L. C. Kennedy. They were released under bonds of $1,000 each.

MERCER OFFICERS LEAVE TO GET 2 HIGHWAYMEN

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 24.—Officers are leaving for Urbana, Ill., where T. S. Reagle and F. A. Rector are held for the robbery of a filling station in this county. They are said to have confessed to the Illinois officers. Extradition papers are being made out.

A. & P. OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

Local Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company stores are participating this week in the observance of the sixty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the chain store system of merchandising. Colorful decorations and special sales are features of the "A. & P. Birthday Party."

The A. & P system was founded by George Huntington Hartford in 1859 in New York. It survived the Civil War strife and money pressure and then gradually began to expand as conditions bettered. The United States has long since been spanned by the A. & P. system and Canada is now being developed.

HOOVER LOOMS AS VICTOR IN FOUR RURAL PA. COUNTIES

STRAW BALLOT SHOWS DEMOCRATS BOLTING

Four rural counties—Forest, Juniata, Fulton and Bradford—will support Herbert Hoover with decisive margins over Gov. Alfred E. Smith, according to their completed returns in the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Fulton county will turn from the Democratic column to the Republican this year, with a substantial lead for Hoover, judging by its straw ballots. Davis in 1924 captured this county, receiving slightly more than 50 per cent of its total vote, which was divided thus: Davis 1,207, Coolidge 1,160, LaFollette 42. The poll indicates that Hoover will receive 67 per cent of the total vote in the county this year.

The other three counties will increase in Republican strength on the face of their returns.

The percentage of the total vote which Coolidge won in 1924, compared with the percentage indicated for Hoover, is as follows: Forest, Coolidge 75 per cent, Hoover 77 per cent; Bradford, Coolidge 74 per cent, Hoover 87 per cent.

In each of the counties the proportion of new voters favoring Hoover generally is about double the proportion supportin, Smith.

Party defections favor Smith mainly on a ratio of 2-to-1.

The division of the LaFollette vote gives Smith some advantage. Women voters in the poll, constituting about 10 per cent of the total in these four counties, are preponderantly in favor of Hoover.

The total of ballots in the Pennsylvania canvass, conducted in connection with the nation-wide poll by the Hearst papers, passes the 100,000 mark with the latest returns. Hoover has a lead of 30,123 over Smith.

The standing is: Hoover, 65,520, including 53,128 men and 12,392 women; Smith 35,397, including 27,449 men and 7,948 women. This vote was divided in 1924 as follows: Coolidge 70,056, including 56,652 men and 13,404 women; Davis 10,882, including 9,172 men and 1,710 women; LaFollette 5,897; not voting 14,082.

ASKS FREEDOM BY WRIT

Edward J. Haley, Dormont, is endeavoring to obtain his release from the Allegheny county jail on a writ of habeas corpus made returnable today in Common Pleas Court. It is alleged that Chief of Police Albert Ruehling, of Dormont, caused his arrest on a suspicious person charge and that he was committed to the Allegheny county jail without the formality of an information being made against him. Haley alleges that he did not commit any crime. His counsel, Samuel A. Weiss, says Haley is being unjustly held in jail.

Judge of Elections George T. Sloan, of the Fifth district of the Second Ward, Carnegie, having moved from the district, Judge James B. Drew in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday appointed Joseph E. Glenn, 729 Washington avenue, to fill the vacancy.

50 STITCHES REQUIRED TO CLOSE STAB WOUND

Fifty stitches were placed in the side of Harry Williams, 34, a Negro of 1312 Bedford avenue at Passavant Hospital where he was taken early today by police. He and James Franklin, 25, another Negro of the same address are said to have engaged in a fight at Wylie avenue and Fullerton street, during which Franklin drew a knife and stabbed Williams. Both are under arrest.

G. O. P. WORRIED OVER VOTE IN MINNESOTA

By CHARLES N. WHEELER, Noted Political Analyst.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—It is violating no confidence to here record that the Republican managers are worried over the Minnesota situation. They believe that conditions are improving hourly as the campaign rushes to its wild close. They sense, they aver, a definite swing to Mr. Hoover.

Nevertheless, the cross-currents are such that no one, however smart, can do better than make a guess at this writing. Most of the newspapermen who have been up and down this territory have the notion that in the final alignment the state will swing to the G. O. P. side of the presidential end and at the same time probably retain United States Senator Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor candidate, for another six years.

Clinton Gilbert, of the Philadelphia Ledger Bureau, is about the most pessimistic of the lot. He spent some time in the Red River Valley and in the wheat belt. He found more deep-seated bitterness on the part of the farmers here than any other state, he told the writer. He does not definitely forecast a Smith vote, but would not be unduly surprised if the Democrats won by a small margin.

On the other hand there is noted in the closing days of the hectic struggle all through the Northwest a tightening up of the G. O. P. lines and a return, though with some reluctance, of a considerable number of dissatisfied farmers to the Republican camp.

HOOVER AWAY AHEAD

The Hearst nation-wide poll figures this morning give Hoover 13,404 to 8,313 for Smith. The Literary Digest poll shows a much larger percentage of the total vote going to Hoover.

There appears to be ample support of the Hearst figures in the surface conditions as of today.

While there is little doubt on the part of the reporters that a deal has been made between the Democratic national managers and the Farmer-Labor organization leaders in Minnesota, it is apparent in many sections of the state that the farmers are not going farther than support of Shipstead for Senator.

Three developments of the past week appear to have dulled the Democratic spearhead in this entire section. They are:

1. Unprecedented registration in Minneapolis and other cities where Mr. Hoover will lead Smith in the final accounting.

2. Floyd Olson, one of the outstanding Farmer-Labor leaders of the state, while speaking for Senator Shipstead, announces that he is not supporting Gov. Smith for the presidency.

3. Circulation throughout the state of the joint appeal by Senators Frazier and Nye and Congressman Sinclair of North Dakota, urging the dissatisfied farmers not to make matters worse by voting for the Smith forces but to rely on Mr. Hoover's pledge that he will work out a solution.

This appeal by the three outstanding leaders in the farm revolt stresses the Tammany backing of Gov. Smith and reports from many sections of the state indicate that it is having the desired effect from the G. O. P. viewpoint.

BIG REGISTRATION

The registration in Minneapolis, where the Scandinavian vote predominates, is the largest in the city's history, mounting to approximately 230,000. After revision the eligible enrollment will not be far from 220,000.

What is significant in this registration is that the women are all in this time, and the Hearst poll, supported by both the Literary Digest figures and local polls, shows that the women in the Northwest are going for Hoover almost two to one. In some places the percentage is much larger.

The situation is so spotted that there seems to be no definite alignment on which a final forecast can be based at this hour. The surface indications, however, as of today and all the poll figures point to a Hoover victory in not only Minnesota but both the Dakotas.

ZAIN PRIZE AD TEST'S FOURTH PERIOD ENDS TONIGHT

$100 AWARD GOES TO BIG WINNER THIS WEEK

Tonight's the night—the last night to send in ads for the fourth period of the $15,000 Zain ad writing contest. Each letter to be included in this period's competition, with its more than 300 awards, will have to be post-marked prior to midnight tonight.

For the judges want to impress on the novice and writers the opportunity the contest affords for those with a yen for mental stimulation and using the imagination.

With the $100 cash prize and the 300 other prizes for this—the fourth period—awaiting the ad writers, the judges also wish to call attention to the $1,000 grand prize that is waiting at the end of the rainbow. So be certain you read the rules carefully and write the ads in conformity with them, so that every contestant will snap at his chance of getting in on the final—and the big money.

PRIZES WORTH WHILE

Just imagine what you could do with $1,000, or for that matter, the period prize of $100.

The former prize might be the means of putting down the first payment on a house; or clearing off the encumbrance, note or mortgage and relieving life of one or more worries; it might mean a new automobile, new equipment for the home, new pianos, washers, or any of the finer things of life.

Or it might mean a honeymoon—or the newly-furnished apartment. There are many, pretty dreams that could be brought to earth with $1,000—the big Zain prize.

So read the rules, visit the stores and examine the products about which you are to write.

If you are at a loss for an idea, although scanning the lists should encourage any number, just consider the position of Reymer's in Pittsburgh's candy world. They have a number of stores, and just to visit one would be sufficient. Piles of sweets, that sweet odor of chocolate, the atmosphere of gentility—and then the real quality of the candies.

SUBJECTS ABOUND

Just as varied a selection of ads, but of naturally distinctive appeal, may be found in the paints and varnish products of C. A. Michel & Co., 640 Smithfield street. What man can do with colorful paint, how a woman can make the most sordid surrounding tasteful and atmospheric with a bit of color and brush—that's to be found in Michels, if you but visit it.

And as different still are the dairy products of Harmony—the Harmony milk that you have heard so much about. Many do not even know whether it is rich, heavy with the sweet flavor of good milk. There's a simple way to know about this product, so that to write about it becomes the easiest of all things. Try it, see the home of Harmony milk, then write.

Old and established, you can imagine how many fair brides-to-be, how many shy grooms, how many proud mothers and fathers and sisters have stepped into Terheyden Company's jewelry shop, at 530 Smithfield street, looked over the jewels, and watches, and gifts, and you can easily see that pleased, satisfied countenances as each had selected his choice.

READ THE RULES

Read carefully the rules for the test and the list of 39 participating concerns. They will be found elsewhere on this page. To be eligible for the $1,000 prize you must write some time during the campaign at least one ad about each of these firms.

Write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, which should be twice as large as a postal card and preferably commercial letter size. Put your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope in which you mail them. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks. Grand prize, $1,000. Grand weekly prize, $100. Five prizes each week for best ads written for each concern participating—135 each week. 1,170 prizes in all.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for fourth period must be received by midnight, October 24, at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the next period, and so on.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize, contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed. A person may win more than one prize.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper at least postcard size. Place name of advertiser at top, write words, phrase, poem, slogan, essay or letter. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. Also on the flap of the envelope. SEND TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

8—In the event of a tie, the prizes will be awarded to EACH winner.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

Pain Stops Instantly!

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

WALKS, STEPS MIX PUT UP TO LANG

Pending the return to the city of Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, Council deferred action on reports submitted yesterday in explanation of a $15,000 deficit in the division of boardwalks and steps.

The reports were requested when Council was advised about 10 days ago that the deficit existed, with three more months' work to be done, and oral reports led to the belief that the division was poorly supervised.

Yesterday's written report was prepared by the accounting division of the Department of Public Works.

It showed a net appropriation for 1928 of $36,000 for wages and total expenditures up to August 15 of $34,794.91 in the boardwalks and steps division.

Between August 16 and September 30, payrolls amounting to $8,137.60 chargeable to that division were paid from appropriations for cleaning streets because the balance in the proper account was only $1,205.09.

MONEY FROM WHERE?

There was no explanation of the source of the funds for payrolls since September 30.

The net appropriation for 1928 for material was $52,890.43, all of which apparently was spent and a deficit of $2,694.59 is said to now exist.

Wages were charged to wrong accounts and material ordered without the authority of the Bureau of Supplies in direct violation of the law, according to reports.

The division of accounts implies that records of the division of boardwalks and steps were kept by the carpenter foreman. The accounts recommended that the carpenter confine his activities to supervising the workmen in that division and leave the keeping of records to the general office of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers.

Routine reports are now five months over due, the accountants declared.

DARROW DODGES SMITH RALLY

Clarence Darrow, the crime lawyer, did not show up to speak for Gov. Smith's candidacy in Palisade Rink, McKeesport, last night. When Thomas H. Hester announced that Darrow would not be on hand to sing the praises of the Democratic candidate, 4,000 of the 5,000 in the audience walked out, although there were several other speakers.

STATE, WITH 4,000,000 VOTES, TO BREAK RECORD

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—(AP.)—With nearly 4,000,000 men and women in the state qualified to cast a ballot, Pennsylvania expects to poll the largest vote it ever has recorded in a presidential election.

Official figures for 64 of the 67 counties in Pennsylvania and unofficial figures for one other county, as compiled by the Associated Press, show a total of 3,852,957 persons have been registered. Taking the 1927 registration figures of 88,357 for Berks county and 18,471 for Greene, the two missing counties, the total would be 3,960,055. In 1924 the total vote for President was 2,144,719.

The 65 counties in the compilation have a Republican registration of 2,810,918 or approximately two-thirds of the total. In 1924, the previous high presidential year, President Coolidge received 1,401,481 votes in Pennsylvania just one-half of the 1928 Republican registration.

Likewise the Democratic registration is double the vote cast for John W. Davis in 1924. The incomplete figure this year is 811,257 compared with 409,192 in 1924. A total of 230,782 are registered under other parties and as non-partisan.

Poisons from Sour Stomach worse than Alcohol

It is well known among physicians everywhere that souring, fermenting food in the stomach is far worse than alcohol. Don't let your stomach stay sour. When you feel sour stomach and indigestion coming on, kill it at once with ACIDINE. Otherwise, the poisons will spread through your blood, give you headache sickness and a very bad 24 hours. ACIDINE, the new discovery, for sour stomach, gas, indigestion, acidosis, will keep you fit and trim for each day's work.

Milk Chocolate Bar

Taste a little as it comes from the tin. How creamy it is! The milk's already in it!

The purest, freshest full-cream milk is blended with the cocoa and sugar by the same secret process Daniel Peter used to make the original milk chocolate.

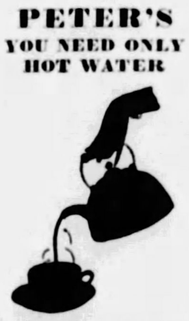
Blended so finely, so perfectly that no cooking is needed. You just add hot water to replace the moisture that has been removed from the milk.

So there is no flat "cooked taste" of boiled or heated milk—no unpleasant scum—no scorching.

You make Peter's Milk Cocoa right in the cup—just by adding hot water. Nothing could be easier. Yet you have a delicious, highly nutritious drink—made of the choicest, rich cocoa, fine table sugar, and the purest, freshest, full-cream milk, blended by the makers of Peter's—the original milk chocolate bar.

WITH ORDINARY COCOA YOU MUST BUY THREE THINGS

WITH PETER'S YOU NEED ONLY HOT WATER



Fresh full-cream milk and fine table sugar are already in it. No bothersome cooking, no scum, no scorching, no pans to wash.

Skin eruptions successfully treated from within

SKILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."—Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

News About Local Amusements and Stars of Cinema World

THOMAS MEIGHAN IS SIGNED TO MAKE TALK PICTURES FOR WARNER PROGRAMS

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24.

BIG news indeed is that emanating from Warners' studio that the valiant brothers of the Vitaphone have signed another famous star for talking pictures in the person of the great favorite, Thomas Meighan, fresh from his triumphs in the United Artists relases, "The Racket" and "The Mating Call." Meighan's first vehicle has not been finally selected, although one of several under consideration will mark his debut in Vitaphone talking photoplays. The contract calls for Meighan's services over a long period of time, so the fans will be able to hear as well as see Tommy in many Warner Brothers pictures.

Meighan is the latest of many famous stars to enroll under the Warner banner. But if present plans go through he is far from being the last. Warner celebrities include John Barrymore, Al Jolson, George Arliss, Sophie Tucker, Ted Lewis and other top-notchers.

Most Ambitious Picture Planned

Perhaps the most ambitious of all motion pictures is now being planned and plotted in Hollywood. Surely one of the greatest and most absorbingly interesting stories in the world is the creation of the world itself. And this is precisely the mighty theme which Harry Hoyt has in mind for a photoplay. It is understood that United Artists regards the venture favorably, and it is through this organization that the picture will probably reach the world.

Hoyt directed the startlingly realistic photoplay which Earl Hudson produced for First National some seasons back. It was called "The Lost World," and in many respects was a revelation even to the motion picture industry itself. It is now said that Mr. Hoyt has interested capital sufficient to finance his enormous undertaking, and that, under the title "Creation," we shall soon have a motion picture showing how the very world we live on came into being.

'Talkies' Attract Stage Thespians

It would almost seem that stage and screen are becoming interchangeable in their personnel. The sound pictures have brought, and are bringing many stage thespians into the movie ranks. But more and more picture players are departing, at least temporarily, from film studios to have a fling behind the footlights. From what I hear, Bessie Love is the most recent, and is scheduled to star in a Broadway play called "Sinema." The show is said to recount the adventures of a film actress in Hollywood, and may be largely based on Bessie's own experiences. It may be a good play.

Movie Dwarfs Form Society

One of the strangest organizations ever formed has originated through "The Mysterious Island," a photoplay being produced by Metro. Several score dwarfs and midgets appear in grotesquely imaginative sequences. In fact Metro signed up all the little people that could be located throughout the country and brought them to Hollywood for the picture. Now the "Dwarfs of America Society," has been founded, and officers elected. The first president of this unique order is Nate Felton, whose home town is Stanley, N. D.

MOVIES FILMED :-: IN PHOTOPLAY :-: OF STELLAR WAYS

Marion Davies as Maggie Pepper, who is undergoing preparations for a screen test. The scene is from "Show People," in which William Haines is co-starred with Miss Davies. King Vidor directed this story of Hollywood life.

Charlie Chaplin is one of the many film celebrities who appear briefly in "Show People," a comedy written by Agnes Christine Johnston and Laurence Stallings. Sound effects are promised.

William Haines, Polly Moran, Marion Davies and King Vidor are snapped on location where the company went to film scenes for "Show People," sound picture starring Miss Davies and Haines.

Santell Gives Beauty Hints

Never wear round necklines, says the expert, always the "V" neck. Brush the hair off the face and high in front. Wear long, tight sleeves. No bare upper arms. Use dark hose at all times. Black, or dark dresses without designs in materials. Soft brimmed hats, not too small. Wear furs loosely, don't wrap them closely about the throat. Plain tailored suits will help, as will basque effect dresses. No two-tone shoes and not too short dresses. Follow these hints, says Santell, and you'll fool even the "guess-your-weight" man by pounds and pounds.

Tells How to Appear Slender

Director Al Santell, who will direct Vilma Banky's next photoplay, has also guided such beauties as Alice White, Margaret Livingston, Corinne Griffith and Colleen Moore. Although Al doesn't come right out and say so, it is presumed that once in a while some of the screen beauties fall off the diet wagon and take on more pounds than look well in pictures. Thus he has formulated a few rules which help plump mamselles to appear slender.

PLAYERS OF 'Y' GIVE FINE COMEDY

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

One of the rarest things in theatrical productions that are not strictly professional is stage presence among the players—the indefinable something that makes the actor look at home in a room of painted canvas walls. It was the possession of this something that marked the performance of the "Y" players at the Morris Kaufmann Memorial Auditorium last night as a genuine achievement. The play was "Enter Madame," a comedy of the artistic temperament by Gilda Varesi and Dolly Byrne, and at least four of the young people in the cast acted like veterans. Blanche Levy, Dorothy Cohen, Norman G. Porter and Milton Brauman acquitted themselves with a sureness and an ease that lifted the whole performance far above the ordinary. Their parts were not ready-made, either, but demanded hard work for proper and adequate interpretation. Miss Levy's tantrums and Miss Cohen's facial commentary at the end of the second act were stellar moments. But the entire cast had been well drilled and made a good impression in this opening play, which will be repeated tonight. Harold Weinberger, Glenn R. Riggs, Milton Hartz (a fine make-up), Mary Power, Ruth Schulman and Ida London carried their part of the action with conscientious dignity. The stage direction reflects credit upon Helen R. Stout, and the scenic setting upon Frank Stout, who had these matters in hand. Altogether, it was a performance most creditable to the "Y" and of good augury for the playhouse as a community asset.

STAR-AUTHOR IN OWN PLAY

Seats go on sale tomorrow for the one-week engagement, beginning next Monday night, of Jane Cowl in her latest vehicle, "The Jealous Moon," coming to the Alvin. "The Jealous Moon" was written by Miss Cowl in collaboration with Theodore Charles. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

Thursday, in the Nixon, seats for the coming engagement of Frank Craven in his own comedy, "The Nineteenth Hole," will be placed on sale. This domestic comedy is being played for the second year by Mr. Craven. There will be the usual matinees.

"Abie's Irish Rose," coming to the Pitt next week, brings for a farewell the story of a Jewish boy's love for an Irish girl. The seat sale opens tomorrow.

The headline attraction in Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis next week will be "Down Home," a pretentious Southern song-and-dance revue, with Josie Carol. It was written by Neville Fleeson. "The Michigan Kid," with Conrad Nagel and Renee Adoree, will be on the screen.

Piano Concert Here Thursday

Harold Bauer and Ossip Gabrilowitsch, pianists, who will open the De Luxe Concert Series in Carnegie Music Hall Thursday night, will offer a program including numbers by Bach, Chopin and Schubert. Several of the compositions were especially arranged by Mr. Bauer.

STEEL WORKER IS DEAD FROM INJURIES IN PLANT

Betty is pouting again!

And when Betty pouts, her plate is shoved away, her porridge left untouched. Do what you may, tell her what stories you will, you cannot make her hungry for even her favorite food. The broth is nasty, the jam too sticky, the potato cold.

Deep in her heart every mother fears these curious, finicky moods that children have. And every mother knows what is the matter, too.

THE poisons of fatigue, of course, get bottled up in children's bodies just as they do in adults'. And in children's bodies also they mean bad, irritable tempers, dreary little heads, woebegone faces. Yet so many mothers are particularly unwilling to shock delicate little bodies by giving harsh, ordinary laxatives . . .

Feen-a-mint is different!

In the first place, it's just like a bit of delicious gum. You don't wash it down hastily with water, you chew it! Children especially like its cool, minty flavor.

This is important; because it is chewed, its magic laxative principle is released slowly, the way science meant it to be released. It mingles thoroughly with the digestive fluids—does not disturb digestion. In this way it works with the body, not against it.

Stop at your druggist's for a box of this pleasant-tasting, modern, scientific laxative. When you give it to your child you won't have to go through any coaxing or threatening—or any worry about lingering after-effects. With it you can correct constipation—now!

Sage Tea Dandy to Darken Hair

By DOROTHY LANG

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

The Tuesday Musical Club celebrated President's Day yesterday afternoon in its rooms at Soldiers' Memorial Hall, and was further honored by a recital by Christine Miller Clemson and Earl Mitchell.

Mrs. Clemson's singing often has been praised in these columns, and no one can listen to this sincere singer without wanting to repeat one's homage to her mature art. She builds a clever program which never fatigues; she elucidates her texts briefly, so that one can listen in comfort and with understanding; and then she gives one her heart in her music.

To hear Mrs. Clemson sing Schubert's "Dedication to Music" is to hear her creed. Her "Kennst Du Das Land," a tremendously difficult song of Hugo Wolf, alone marks her artistic accomplishment, and stands as a milestone in her musical life. Further, it is the essence of her knowledge of German lieder, that places her as an interpreter of these songs among singers who will be remembered.

Earl Mitchell is best when he accompanies Mrs. Clemson. Yesterday's performance was no exception.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

FIVE national political leaders come before the microphone tonight to plead the cause of their parties. Gov. Alfred E. Smith speaks over KDKA at 9:00 p. m., and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis speaks over WJAS at 8:30 p. m. The other speakers are Homer S. Cummings, over WCAE at 10:30, Charles Evans Hughes over WBBM, Chicago, at 9:00, and John W. Davis over WHAS, Louisville, at 8:00 p. m.

Two Pittsburgh Republicans will speak, Senator Frank J. Harris will speak on "Voting Machines and Honest Elections" over KDKA at 6:15 p. m. and W. Heber Dithrich will talk "Hoover for President" over the same station at 7:30 o'clock.

While the nation is focusing its eyes on Hoover and Smith in these few minutes of torrid campaigning they seem to lose sight of Will Rogers' ambitious struggle, so he has scheduled a rally over WJAS at 10:00 p. m. The "Will Rogers for President" rally will take the form of a political torchlight parade through the Times Square district of New York. Amelia Earhart, the first woman to fly the Atlantic, will lead the procession. Rogers himself regrets very much that a "500" game will keep him from the studio.

The Millionaires have a well-balanced program for 9:00 o'clock. Some of the selections are "The Vagabond King," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and selections from "Floradora."

Stirring marches and melodious concert pieces make up the United Military Band program at 10:30 p. m.

Some selections are "The Vanguard March," "Cavatina," "Second Connecticut March" and Waltz from "Tales of Hoffman."

KDKA PROGRAM

At KDKA the Maytag Ramblers will give a varied program at 10:01 o'clock. Some of the numbers are "Melodies from Miss Springtime," "Magic of Your Eyes," "Sheridan's Ride" and "The Mikado."

Warren I. Bickford, secretary of the Iron City Electric Company, will speak at 10:20 p. m. James Millholland will talk on "What Our State College Needs" at 7:15 o'clock.

"Flow Gently, Sweet Afton" and Moore's "Oft in the Stilly Night" are offered on the Foresters' program at 8:30 p. m. "The Blue Room," by Rodgers, is a vocal number.

"Love" is the theme of the Troubadour presentation over WCAE at 9:00 o'clock. Friml's "Love, Always Love;" Liszt's "Dream of Love" with string instruments; and "Why Do I Love You" are some of the numbers.

The Palmolive Revelers will play Rachmaninoff's 'Prelude in C Minor' and "Carolina Moon" at 9:30 o'clock. Paul Oliver's tenor solo will be Pollack's "In Allah's Garden." "The Glow Worm" is a soprano solo.

KQV offers a late dance program starting at 11:00 o'clock and the usual early evening popular concerts.

Harris to Talk About Voting Machines

"Voting Machines and Honest Elections" is the subject of a radio address tonight by Senator Frank J. Harris. Speaking over KDKA at 6:15 p. m., Senator Harris will tell why the people of Pennsylvania should approve the proposed amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania which will permit local option of voting machines in this state. The amendment will be submitted to the people at the presidential election in November. Senator Harris has been an active champion of honest elections. This will be his first speech over the radio. Magnesia Best for Acid Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants.

Most people who used to suffer from gas, sourness, bloating and indigestion have now given up disagreeable diets and the use of harmful artificial digestants. Instead they eat their favorite and formerly forbidden foods and after meals take a little Bisurated Magnesia—either tablets or powder—in some water. They have no stomach trouble.

Most so-called indigestion is merely "too much acid" in the stomach. Food sours and ferments before it can be digested. Gas forms. The stomach needs an alkali to give safe, certain and speedy relief.

Bisurated Magnesia instantly neutralizes excess stomach acids, sweetens the food contents, ends gas and bloating and quickly stops stomach pain. Then digestion becomes easy. It is a safe, pleasant and convenient method to use, and May Drug Co. and druggists everywhere sell it on a positive guarantee of satisfactory relief or money back. Try a test package on this plan, and enjoy your meals with no more fear of indigestion.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Folk Have First Real Taste of Busy Social Season

THE social season of 1928, now fully a month old, promised to be characterized by the calmness of the leisurely days of 25 or 50 years ago. This calm period of a month, which demanded no more than one event for an afternoon or evening, has come to an end, it seems. At least yesterday presented a decided contrast to the sedateness of the opening days of the season.

In additions to luncheons there was the distinctive debut given yesterday afternoon when Jane Allderdice, daughter of the Taylor Allderdices, made her bow to the social world at a tea given by her mother in the Allderdice home, and the tea given by Mrs. Henry R. Rea, head of the women's groups for the Allegheny General Hospital campaign for the new 15-story hospital, at her home, "Farmhill," Sewickley. In the evening there were small dinner parties and the presentation of "The Whole Town's Talking" by the Sewickley Valley Hospital Cot Club players in the Guild Hall, Sewickley.

AND besides all these events to talk over, there is news of future affairs. Did you know that the John N. Marshalls have changed the date for the dance they will give for their sister, Mary Margaret Marshall, debutante daughter of the Charles D. Marshalls, in the Pittsburgh Club? The date, formerly set for December 27, is now January 2.

AND another October event is being planned for the buds of the season. Mrs. H. A. Ingram will entertain in her home on South Highland avenue Sunday afternoon at a tea for all the debutantes.

THE world outside yesterday afternoon might have chilled the passerby with a premonition of cold, bleak November, but inside the Allderdice home one couldn't help feeling that the sun was shining, or else Palm Beach had traveled to Pittsburgh.

Jane Allderdice, the debutante, received with her mother, Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, Mrs. Lawrence Allderdice, of Tucson, Ariz., also a guest of honor, and Mrs. Bradford Knight, of Philadelphia, in the solarium of the home, against a background of dahlias, pompons, chrysanthemumus, roses in autumn shades. Gift bouquets were arranged in many vases in the solarium and on the piano in the drawing room, opening off the solarium.

The large marquee built for the debut was transformed with garlands of southern smilax, bamboo and vivid-toned dahlias, and lighted by Japanese lanterns. A large gayly striped umbrella placed in one corner made one think of Florida shores.

The debutante wore a gown of ecru lace, with a wide irregular flounce of ecru crepe, and carried different gift bouquets during the afternoon.

Mrs. Lawrence Allderdice appeared in brown chiffon with a yoke of real lace of ecru shade, and Mrs. Knight wore black and silver. The mother of the debutante was gowned in beige crepe, trimmed with chiffon velvet, fashioned with long, tight sleeves, flaring at the elbow, and with the skirt trimmed with a double flounce of chiffon velvet.

Assisting Mrs. Allderdice were Mrs. William B. McCullough, Mrs. G. P. McNiff, Mrs. George Willock, Mrs. E. T. Hitchman, of Wheeling; Mrs. Frank Dravo, Mrs. Ralph Dravo, Mrs. H. S. Wainwright, Mrs. W. MISS LOUISE THOMPSON WILSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilson, of Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, became the bride of John McDowell Matthews, of Hillsboro, O., Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, with the Rev. Dr. James D. Rankin, of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, as officiant. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blue transparent velvet, with a hat to match, and carried Parnet roses, snapdrazon, and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Hubert Paul Canerdy, her matron of honor, wore black transparent velvet and carried tea roses and lilies of the valley. William E. Miles, Jr., was best man.

After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews left for an eastern trip, and will be at home in Dubois, after November 15.

TUESDAY MUSICAL CLUB HOLDS PRESIDENT'S DAY

ANOTHER president's day has come and gone for the Tuesday Musical Club. Yesterday afternoon in Upper Memorial Hall one of the largest audiences the club has ever known gathered to do honor to Mrs. Will Earhart, who continues in the presidency for another year, and to hear the club's own artist member, Mrs. Christine Miller Clemson, in a recital of great beauty. Mrs. Earhart and every member of her executive board were in the receiving line which formed across the palm and fern-banked front of the hall. At the close of the afternoon there was the customary tea with two large tea tables at which presided Miss Anne Griffiths, Miss Elizabeth Davidson, Miss Adele Reahard, Mrs. Charles M. Clarke, Mrs. Christian I. McKee, Mrs. George H. Wilson, Mrs. Henrietta Hibbard and Mrs. M. A. Kretschmar pouring. In the center of each table stood a gold and green wicker basket filled with gorgeous bronze dahlias.

COUNCIL REFERS STORE'S OFFER IN BEAUTIFICATION

An offer from May Stern & Co., to beautify the barren hillside between the Boulevard of the Allies and Forbes street from Brady street to Craft avenue was referred to the planning commission for study and a recommendation.

That action was taken on a motion offered by P. J. McArdle at a meeting yesterday of the Councilmanic Public Works committee.

The company offered to landscape the bare spots with sod and shrubbery and to plant vines to cover the adjoining concrete retaining wall.

Discussion of the proposal developed that the planning commission has a similar improvements under consideration.

On motion of John S. Herron Council addressed a letter expressing thanks to May Stern & Company for the spirit of civic interest shown in the offer.

BOGGS & BUHL

special purchase lot $125 to $145 coats $100

One of the most interesting price groups in the sale because it brings the type of finer coat that the majority of Boggs & Buhl patrons want.

they are coats for the discriminating

Each sale group offers really extraordinary values, as comparison will easily prove, but this collection at $100 has enjoyed the best selling.

Women who want the preferred fashions — who like tailored perfection — luxurious fabrics and rich furs are finding that these coats are a new revelation of value.

these are the coatings you'll find

You'll find an abundance of Black Coats—beautifully trimmed with the season's smartest long or short haired furs. Also Tan coats and Red coats and dressy Green and new Brown shades. In Marjora, Norma, Supreme and Broadcloths.

Among the furs used are Skunk, Beaver, Caracul, Fitch, Kit Fox, Platinum Wolf, Fox, Natural Wolf.

The newer shaped collars and cuffs.

—Second Floor—

"redfern" wrap-arounds $10

The front clasp Wrap-Around sketched is designed for average figures that need support. Made of a beautiful Rayon brocade—skillfully boned—side panels of knitted elastic which give a new slight hip curve.

An elastic V gore in the back permits unusual ease in any position. Six hose supporters—the two in the back are raised, preventing any possibility of the garment "riding up."

this new cape collar makes an evening wrap of your fur coat

It may be worn smartly to frame the face or down over the shoulders in cape effect—a coat of dual personality. The model illustrated is in dark Jap Mink with smart contrast of Butter-Ermine which is shown on the cape collar and in a modern treatment on the cuffs. This coat is priced $685 and is about $200 less than prevailing prices on similar coats.

flat curly furs have fashionable preferance

Boggs & Buhl shows this type fur in rich caraculs in Black — Brown and Grey—they are coats of luxury and adopt themselves perfectly into a formal scheme. Prices range $385 to $785.

Hudson Seal coats (dyed muskrat) trimmed with Eastern Mink are also dress coats that have smart following—$485 to $685.

All of these Coats are Specially Priced

200 'HIT TRAIL' IN GLORY BARN

More than 2,000 persons were present in Glory Barn, Carson street, last night, to hear Evangelist John W. Sproul preach another service on divine healing. Two hundred followers "hit the trail" and professed accepting Christianity and many others went forward to be annointed in hope of gaining relief from physical ills.

Ben Anderson, secretary to County Commissioner E. V. Babcock, was in Glory Barn last night and was called forward by Evangelist Sproul. Anderson made a short talk in which he told of his boyhood acquaintance with the evangelist and what he knew of Sproul's life. He said he knew the evangelist when he went to war and when he came back a wounded veteran, his voice gone as a result of being gassed. He said he also knew when Mr. Sproul regained his voice through attending a divine healing meeting in the Cheraden Gospel Tabernacle.

DECOMMENDS STUDY

The subject of the sermon last night was "Divine Healing—Is It For All?" Sproul said:

"The only was to find the correct answer is to study the life of Jesus.

"The leaders of the Episcopal Church, after seven years' discussion, assert that 'neither sin nor sickness is ever God's will for His earthly children—God will heal all who pray to Him until their allotted span of life is concluded.'

"Jesus said: 'If thou wilt diligently hearken I will put none of these diseases upon you.'

Faith cometh in hearing. When this part of the gospel is omitted the people do not develop faith for healing. We have the promise to rest on: 'Teach all nations to lay hands on and they will recover.'"

COAL FREIGHT RATES CUT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.—Reduction in coal rates to Waynesboro, Pa., on bituminous shipments from the Cumberland-Piedmont, Meyersdale, West Virginia and Pittsburgh-Youghiogheny districts were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, effective December 10.

A figure of $2.32 per ton was declared reasonable in the future from the Cumberland-Piedmont and Meyersdale territory, and $2.58 per ton was fixed for West Virginia and the Pittsburgh-Youghiogheny shipments.

Shock Kills

A. VULAKOVICH

Shock from an operation to have removed a bullet imbedded for five years has resulted in the death of Anthony Vulakovich, 24, 2510 East Ohio street, in St. John's Hospital. A demented man in Philadelphia shot him in the abdomen five years ago.

Cursed When She Took Dime, Wife Gets Divorce

Because his wife took a dime out of his pocket her husband, Madison Hunter, told Edna Hunter he hoped that if she did it again her hand would fall off, resulting in Judge Thomas J. Ford granting her a divorce. Mrs. Hunter, who lives at 202 South Lexington avenue, and her husband were married in 1921 and had frequent quarrels until they separated several years ago. There was a warm scene, the libellant testified, at the time she took the dime in question.

Mt. Lebanon Wars on Auto Tag Evaders

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR 28 MOTORISTS

Justice of the Peace E. B. Bishop, of Mt. Lebanon, has issued warrants for 28 motorists who recently have received tags for traffic law and parking violations, but who have failed to appear.

Justice Bishop declares he intends putting stop to reckless driving and speeding, and that he proposes to teach these offenders a lesson. Under ordinary circumstances a fine of $1 is imposed, but in this instance fines of $10 to $25 are faced, plus the constables' charges and mileage fee. He further announces the fines will be paid or the offenders jailed.

BELLEVUE SCHOOL SUPT. GIVEN PITTSBURGH POST

Dr. J. Freeman Guy, superintendent of the Bellevue public schools, yesterday was elected an associate superintendent of the Pittsburgh schools at a meeting of the Board of Education. As soon as he can obtain his release from his present position Dr. Guy will join the city staff at a salary of $7,500.

Dr. Guy formerly was associated with the city school board but took up his present position several years ago. Under a recommendation offered by Dr. William Davidson, city superintendent of schools, Dr. Guy's term will coincide with that of the associate superintendents elected last January. The recommendation was approved.

William F. Kennedy, who at present is a director of the platoon schools, also was appointed an associate superintendent at a $7,500 salary. Dr. Guy will be assigned to the elementary schools in the place of Dr. B. G. Graham, first associate superintendent, who is to take charge of the entire secondary department, both junior and senior divisions. Kennedy will be relieved of his duties as principal at McKelvy School and will continue to have charge of platoon schools in addition to being connected with the elementary department.

Girl Arrested For Selling Moonshine

Seventeen - year - old Helen Nemcheck, of 701 Cowsin street, McKeesport, was selling liquor at 616 Market street, McKeesport, when prohibition agents entered the place yesterday, the raiders reported.

The agents averred that the girl sold them three drinks of whisky and two bottles of homebrew, which resulted in the raid that followed and the arrest of Helen and Milton Shermer, 22. Large quantities of the brew and moonshine were seized. Each was released on bail, the report stated.

Mabel Hamilton Gibson, 7583 Kelly street, married in 1916 to William F. Gibson, has filed a divorce libel against him in Common Pleas Court on grounds of desertion.

HIT-RUN DRIVER HELD AFTER DOUBLE CRASH

A hit-and-run motorist caused two accidents in the East End district last night within a few minutes of each other, one occurring when he attempted to avoid arrest for the first, police say.

The driver, H. H. Hartman, 56, of 749 Beechwood boulevard, was arrested on a charge of violating the automobile laws. Police say he was intoxicated.

Hartman's machine first struck the automobile of Attorney T. F. Ryan, of 1204 Park Building, and continued on to Roup street, where it collided with the machine of Benjamin Davis, of 824 Collins avenue. Mrs. Freda Davis, 24, the wife, was cut and bruised.

W. C. Hoffman, of 515 Wallace avenue, Wilkinsburg, was injured last night when he lost control of his automobile in Beechwood boulevard. The machine struck a tree.

Bitten

MIKE ZELAR

Mike Zelar, 8, 1 Spruce street, North Side, today recovers from dog bites he suffered while playing near his home. The boy was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, where a wound in his elbow was cauterized.

NORTH BOROUGH WOMAN EMULATES WIDOW'S MITE

The poor widow who won undying fame by casting two mites into the treasury of the temple nearly 2,000 years ago has a counterpart in the North Boroughs, the Y. M. C. A. drive has disclosed.

Members of a team, participating in the drive, told at a workers' dinner in the "Y" building in Bellevue, of a widow, whose name was not disclosed, who had contributed $25. She keeps boarders for a livelihood and has two boys to rear, but she wanted to have her share in the campaign to "help the boys keep the straight and narrow path." Along with her gift went a prayer, "God bless my gift for good."

Another gift of $25 from an aged woman school teacher, not possessed of much worldly goods, was revealed, without mention of name.

Reports of teams showed $5,024 contributed or pledged the first day of the drive, the largest amount of any of the seven Y. M. C. A. branch campaigns in the greater city, William J. Montgomery, general secretary of the North Boroughs branch, has charge. A total of $18,000 is sought.

The Bellevue division under J. O. Bowet, reported $2,519 toward a borough goal of $5,000. Several teams did not report and all were urged to make a complete return at tonight's dinner.

Avalon, under Frank M. Robinson, reported a total of $569.50 against a goal of $2,500; the team captained by John F. C. Ruth registered $424 of that sum.

Ben Avon, under the leadership of Sidney B. Evans, reported, on behalf of part of the teams, $239 toward $3,000 aim.

Emsworth workers, directed by John R. Metz, $651.50 toward a goal of $2,000, and W. G. A. Miller $715 against an aim of $1,500.

The drive closes next Monday.

HOME ROBBED IN NORTH SIDE

Another daylight house robbery on the North Side, the third in two days, was reported to police yesterday. The home of Mrs. O. M. Sanders, at 1228 Pemberton avenue, was entered by thieves who forced the rear cellar door. After ransacking the house they escaped with but 75 cents which was taken from a purse.

AVALON BOASTS 1,000 PUPILS

Avalon public schools have passed the 1,000 mark, S. Todd Perley, supervising principal, disclosed today.

The total enrollment this fall is 1,025, an increase of about 8 per cent over last year. Of these 470 are in the junior and senior high schools. Since erection of the new high school two years ago, high school attendance has leaped ahead.

BRANDS HUSBAND CRUEL, ASKS DIVORCE

Elizabeth Nichols, 906 Center street, Wilkinsburg, charges George Nichols, 7809 Frankstown avenue, with cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities in a libel in divorce filed in Common Pleas Court. The couple were married in 1919.

MOTHER AND BABY

When John Stoencheff, 5406 Second avenue, Glenwood, returned to his home from work last Friday evening, he found his wife, Mary, and his daughter, Anna May, missing. Today he still conducts a search for them. It is the second time, he says, that his wife has disappered.

DIVORCE PLEA OVERRULED

Judge George V. Moore, of Common Pleas Court, has refused Joseph Maiorano, 63, formerly wealthy resident of Homestead, a divorce from Magdalena F. Maiorano, 35, of 464 West Eighth avenue, Homestead. The court finds that Maiorano, who lives at 648 Montclair street, Squirrel Hill, did not sustain his charge that his wife's desertion was wilful. The wife contested the divorce action.

Judge Moore, in an opinion handed down in the case, says that neither measured up to the demands of kindness.

ASKS $30,000 AFTER TWO AUTOS COLLIDE

Suit has been entered by Isaac Rosenberg and his son, Lewis Rosenberg, 7227 Monticello street, against Dr. C. G. Hughes, Union Trust Company Building, for $30,000 damages as a result of injuries received by young Lewis when the Lewis and Hughes cars crashed in collision at Darlington road and Murray avenue March 11 last. Young Lewis received a fracture of the skull.

BRADDOCK PLANS BIGGEST HALLOWEEN CELEBRATION

The largest Halloween celebration in the history Braddock is promised by the committee in charge of the event next Wednesday evening. After tireless efforts on the part of the Chamber of Commerce committee on arrangements the plans are completed and everything is now in readiness for the jollification.

Many business men will enter floats and this division of the parade will be a feature of the pageant.

Three bands and numerous fraternal societies will assist the revelers. Cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded. Free parking space has been provided for automobiles, as police regulations prohibit parking on Braddock avenue from 6:30 in the evening until after the parade.

ST. JOSEPH'S BOOSTERS OPEN OLD HOME WEEK

This year's fall festival of the Boosters' Club of St. Joseph's Church, Sharpsburg, beginning tonight, is to take the form of an old home week for present and former parishioners. The celebration will extend through Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, also. Thomas A. Nestor is general chairman.

EYES BLACKED, GETS DIVORCE

Her husband blackened both of her eyes and told her to go to work if she wanted money, therefore Judge Thomas J. Ford, of Common Pleas Court, has granted Bessie I. Leonard, of 3450 Ward street, a divorce from Elmer Leonard on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. Mrs. Leonard testified during the progress of the trial that Leonard had written bad checks and that when she remonstrated with him about it, he struck her. She said that Leonard was a wire chief before their marriage in 1913, but lately has been a salesman.

SENT IN LETTER

Days before the Graf Zeppelin was scheduled to fly over Pittsburgh on its tour of the Eastern United States, "it" was in Pittsburgh, represented by this postage-stamp-size bit of canvas that was part of the great ship as it flew across the Atlantic. Here, Tilly Ehrsam exhibits it, gift to her father, Frederick Ehrsam, 112 Federal street, sent to him in a letter from "down East."

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE auditorium of the Nixon was dark, the curtain was up, and the stage was murky in a dim light, which, we gathered, was a two-point light. The set was the cabin and deck of a ship. Actors, dressed in street attire, sat on stools or moved about. In the auditorium, near the orchestra pit, a man, with a sheaf of papers in his hand, and wearing a soft hat, was calling from the darkness certain directions to the people on the stage. His tone carried authority, but it was tinctured with a flavor of sympathy. He was directing the final rehearsal of a new play called "Davy Jones' Locker."

Action and the dialogue met with the approval of the man in the darkness, but there were certain difficulties having to do with various mechanical devices. Would it not be better to run the cable through this door instead of the other. But how will so-and-so move through the door. A man, on the stage, presumably the stage director, offered a suggestion. That seemed to solve the dilemma.

IN THE third from the last row, downstairs, a man sat and watched. He was the man we were looking for. "Mr. Barry?" we asked. "Yes." "A reporter who would like to talk to you about your new play" "Let's get out in the light," he said, although in fairness to our craft we feel sure he would have made the same suggestion if we had said we were a man of the cloth. "You may want to see the last rehearsal?" we ventured. "No, I'm a little tired of seeing rehearsals—it's out of my hands now." The author was Richard Barry, who has done considerable newspaper feature work as well as movie scenario work, magazine stuff, and a few plays.

We talked about his play, about which he is confident—with modesty. How about play-writing? How long did it take him to write this play? Was there much re-writing?

How did he gauge the length of it? Such were the questions that fitted in as the conversation proceeded. Mr. Barry, a man of 50 (a guess) was pleasant, understanding and, we thought, competent.

PART of the story he dramatized was based on fact. He drew, of course, from the realm of fancy, too. He had worked on the play a year, all told. Much re-writing? It was a year of writing and re-writing. A page of manuscript usually takes up a minute of time. A play calls for 120 minutes. If a novel or a short story is measured in words, a play is measured in time. A playwright has many difficulties. He has the physical limitations of the stage (space) to deal with, limitations that can be expanded by explanatory dialogue, but brain-puzzling limitations nevertheless. Time, another of the unities, is of paramount importance, and the third of the triumvirate, action, is the other bugaboo. Characterization, logical dialogue, and such elements as suspenses, conflict in various forms, comedy, all must get their proper treatment.

Who did Mr. Barry, a craftsman who operates his own little theater in a barn at his home in Mamaroneck, N. Y., like best as a theatrical playwright in this country? Owen Davis, said Mr. Barry. He was quick to perceive the merit of many others, but as one fresh from the workshop of a play, Mr. Barry thought Mr. Davis knew the mechanics better than anyone in this country he knew. Mr. Davis can write many kinds of plays.

MR. BARRY says he thinks he has a good play, but no one will know definitely until the public passes judgment. After all, the public, bothering little about the rules of the game, is the final arbiter.

Mr. Barry was so pleasant to a curious, and possibly, a densely ignorant questioner, we hope his play goes over big.

AUTO SKIDS INTO BOARDED SOUTH SIDE SALOON

CAR SLIDES 40 FEET, POLICE REPORT

When a street car's stopping necessitated quick braking by Raymond Garber, his automobile, at Sixth and Carson streets, skidded 40 feet on the wet paving, South Side police report says, and "opened" a saloon at 539 Carson street, once padlocked and still barred by heavy planks. The artist here illustrates the car's "flight."

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 24.

Hoover has dug up a whole new subject and made the best speech of his campaign—about keeping Congress and the Senate from having anything to do with the nation's business.

If he had gone a step further and come out for their entire abolishment, I believe he would have been elected unanimously on the spot.

Smith is always saying: "If I get in I will appoint a commission to look into so and so." That's what fills poor houses is people that have waited for some government committee to act.

Outside of traffic, there is nothing that has held this country back as much as committees.

What Absinthe's Made Of!

THE word absinthe, literally translated from the French, means wormwood. This liquor is made by steeping wormwood and other aromatic herbs in alcohol. Among the herbs used are balm, caraway, anise and hyssop.

STOLEN LOVE

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Joan Hastings, seventeen and beautiful, lives with two old maiden aunts and one of them, Aunt Evvie, tells her of her unmarried mother's tragic love affair and death. Joan falls in love with Bill Martin, a penniless young man, and she is sent away to school. Bill, an innocent victim of a bootlegging gang, is sent to jail and Joan, begging for bail money from the aunts, confesses everything to them. She is put on a train for school in charge of a woman friend of Aunt Evvie's. Bill, freed, bids goodby to his mother, leaving no address and befriending Rollo Keyes, a rich young spender, is given a job by his father. Joan, escaping from the train, reaches his home just after he has gone. Concealing her presence from her aunts she gets a position in a department store and later works as a model in a smart shop. There Mrs. Barstow, a rich society woman, sees her, likes her and asks her to tea. She meets Curtis Barstow who immediately becomes interested in her. Joan goes to see Mrs. Martin and learns that Bill has written but has not asked for her. She thinks he no longer cares. Mrs. Kimmer, with whom she lives and for whose daughter she works, sees a love affair developing between her and Barstow and Francis tells her Mrs. Barstow has been asking about her past.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

BILL MARTIN threw down his book.

"Amen," murmured the young man with his feet on the table. "Let's turn in. It's almost morning." He yawned and stretched sleepily. "You should have been with the gang tonight. Ruth was going good. Great little girl. Filed her papers for divorce; did I tell you?"

"She did!" Bill sat up, all interest.

"She sure did. Yep, she's gonna be Mrs. Rollo Keyes. What have you got to say to that, you old scoffer!"

"Does she know what your dad said?"

"About the allowance? Huh! You know dad. When I bring that little girl in to dad he'll pull in his horns. Well, I told her we'd have to starve together, but she said she guessed she'd rather starve with a guy like me than live on the fat of the land with that bald-headed old buzzard—Lord—how she ever came to marry it—"

"Old Gillespie's all right—"

"What! That old vulture—marrying a girl young enough to be his granddaughter—that hook-nosed old bunch of bones—why he—"

Bill threw up his hands and yawned. "Rave on—I'm going to bed. Got to be at the works at seven."

"Listen—I haven't finished. I wanted to tell you what she said when I told her how we'd have to take a chance on Dad pungling up. Listen, when I put the ring on her finger—"

"Ring—"

"Sure. Don't you think my credit's good? Listen, when I put the ring on her finger—"

"Rollo, for Pete's sake—I've got to get some sleep."

"Go to sleep then—I wish to heaven you'd fall in love once. Then you wouldn't get so damned superior. Ruth's said the same thing more than once. You're all right, Bill, but you aren't human—"

Bill didn't answer. He stooped down and tightened the straps on a worn leather suitcase, and set it carefully behind the door.

"Going to leave us? Little trip some place?"

Rollo had to repeat his question before Bill heard him. "On the night train—tomorrow night."

"Well for crying out loud—where to?"

"San Francisco."

"How long?"

"Two weeks."

"What for?"

Bill smiled. A smile that had in it bitterness, and triumph and pain. "Because I can't stay away any longer—that's why."

Rollo whistled, a long, drawnout whistle. "Sounds like a girl."

"It is."

Old Mrs. Martin cried when she saw him.

"Now Ma, I thought you'd be glad to see me—otherwise I wouldn't have come!" he chided her, picking her right up and squeezing her until she squealed.

"Billie—I'm so glad—I jes' can't help from cryin'——"

"And Ma—there was one thing special I wanted to ask about. Has anyone heard where Joan Hastings is? I thought I'd take a run over to the garage, Gerwin might have heard the aunts mention it—or at the postoffice—could they tell me, do you think?"

"Why—I have it—"

"You have it! Ma! You have it, and you never sent it to me?" His jaw dropped.

"I didn't know you wanted it. You never asked. Why, Billie, you didn't even send me your address till long after I sent her back all them letters—"

"Letters! Ma—for heaven's sake tell me—what letters. She wrote from Philadelphia?"

"Billie, don't get all excited, now please. Joan's right in San Francisco. She came to see me just the other day. Now you just sit right still till I get lunch, and then—"

He grabbed his hat. "Where—oh you don't know how—where—where?"

She began to scramble in the darning basket, her round little face all bewildered and red. "I wish you wouldn't get so excited," she complained mildly. "Seems like when you just got off the train you might . . . I just remembered—she forgot to give it to me!"

He went up on the hill to think. Here he once sat with Joan. Here they sat, dangling their legs over the cliff, looking down at the green water, under the clear blue sky. Happy then . . . happy . . .

"I've bungled it again," he thought desperately. "Oh, Joan—Joan—to think of you writing, letter after letter, and me not knowing—not thinking—"

He began to run down the hill, plunging over brush, jumping boulders as he used to do. Then he thought of the Van Fleets. If Joan was so near they'd know. They wouldn't want to tell, but, he set his jaw, they would.

So he went back to the road. Almost ran into Dolores, red and round as a peony in her flounced dotted swiss. She kept on holding his hand. "Well, stranger! How swell you look. New suit and all. I suppose you'll be too toney for your old friends now—"

She babbled on. How funny her eyes were, sort of glazed and hot. He wished she'd stop and let him go on. Involuntarily he glanced up to the high road, to the windbreak of eucalptus trees. You could just see the yellow turrets of the old Van Fleet place above the trees.

Her eyes followed his. "I saw Joan Hastings the other day."

"I hear she's working in San Francisco," he said, and he crumpled the leaves of the hazel bush that he had absently gathered on the trail.

"At the Maison Francine. She's a model over there, all painted and powdered fit to kill. The Sedgwick girls met her one day—it's all over town. Everybody's laughing their heads off. You know what models are—" She laughed shrilly. "What a joke on those two old mummies up the hill! Ha, ha. They'll have to come down off their high horse yet—"

"Maison Francine—whatever the dickens that is—"

The ferry was just churning into the slip. He tore down the hill. With a little luck he'd make it.

"How did I ever stay away so long?" he wondered. He clenched his hands in his pockets, and paced up and down the deck. "Maybe it was a good thing we did get all bawled up. If I had known she was here, I'd have been here, too. I'd never have stayed on with old man Keyes—" he had, and the affection the old man had for him, and the little

And he thought of the position money in the Bakersfield bank.

"Maybe it's all for the best!"

He wondered how she'd look when she saw him. Would she look up at him with the glad welcoming smile, and her heart in her eyes as she used to do? Or would there be a strangeness at first, and a shy groping for his hand. "It's been so long, Bill—so long?"

He found the place, a door next to a florist's shop. A window in which was displayed one glittering costly gown, a pale ermine wrap thrown over a carved bench beside it. A flask of amber colored perfume, a long string of pearls, a small heap of barbaric bracelets.

This was where Joan worked. This was the place.

He walked by the door, humming. Then he walked back, clearing his throat angrily. What did he care for a bunch of women? But the place was full of them. A fine figure he'd cut, walking in there, asking for Joan. Meeting her, with the curious eyes of strangers upon them. He shook his head. It wouldn't be right.

Oh if he only knew where she lived. Her home. He could go to her home, find her alone. What a prize idiot he'd been to dash out of the house the minute his mother said she had lost the address.

He took a turn up to the corner. There was a druggist there. He could telephone. His fingers shook so that he could hardly turn the leaves of the book, a penny rolled one way and a dime another as he searched for the nickel to drop in the slot.

"I want to speak to Miss Hastings, Miss Joan Hastings," he said, very loud.

He waited. Ages. Eternities. Suppose she didn't work there at all. Suppose Dolores had invented the name along with the rest of her story!

"Yes?"

Was that Joan? It might be. "Is that you, Joan?" he asked, hoarsely, and tapped the phone again, frantically.

"I can hardly hear you," her voice came faintly. "Where are you?"

RAID WILDCAT DISTILERY, BREWERY

Two North Side saloons, a wildcat" brewery in Lawrenceville and an alcohol plant and distillery in the Hill district was the toll of raids by prohibition agents and constables yesterday.

Walter J. Dietz, 41, Homer Dawson, 55, and David Riggs, 47, were reported arrested when the raiders visited Dietz's saloon at 307 Federal street. Seven barrels of beer, five cartons of whisky, gin and 60 pints of ale were found there, the agents said. The other emporium, at 900 Chestnut street, yielded 100 pints of beer and a small quantity of alleged whisky. John Herman, 25, was arrested, according to the report.

In the basement of a three-story brick building at 2533 Butler street, a "wildcat" brewery was found in operation. Seven 300-gallon vats of beer mash and 600 gallons of beer were dumped by the officers. The equipment, valued at $6,000, was destroyed. Nobody was in the place at the time of the raid.

An alcohol plant of similar value was uncovered in a building at 1204 Fifth avenue, where Andrew Molchanow, 38, was arrested. Here 140 gallons of alcohol, 15 gallons of gin, 876 pints of whisky and several sacks of whisky barrel chips were confiscated. In the same neighborhood, in the rear of 1918 Webster avenue, a 150-gallon still, 37 barrels of mash and 20 gallons of moonshine were seized. The building, a three-story brick, was used exclusively for the manufacture of liquor, according to the agents. No arrests were made.

FIRE TRUCK CRASHES INTO HOME; 5 HURT

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 24.—Four firemen and the operator of an Ohio Bell Telephone truck narrowly escaped death when the fire truck crashed into a telephone pole and catapulted into the home of T. R. Thomas, Oak Hill avenue. The truck was on its way to a fire when the driver, Fireman J. T. Kennedy, lost control. The Thomas home was badly damaged in the wreck. The accident was caused, it is said, when the fire truck driver ignored a boulevard stop sign and collided with the telephone truck.

COULD NOT SLEEP NIGHTS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fairhaven, Mass.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life. When I feel nervous and run-down my husband gets me a bottle right away. It is a great help to me and I think that if other people would only take it when they feel all run-down and take it as the directions say, they would find it a great benefit. My worst symptoms were nervousness and tired feelings. I could not sleep nights and I was so nervous I would cry if anyone looked at me."—Mrs. Ada Besse, 196 Washington Street, Fairhaven, Mass.

Sayings of Mrs. Solomon

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE ETERNAL WOMAN

THINKEST thou, oh Foolish One, because thou hast borrowed man's knickerbockers and imitated his hair-cut, that thou art his counterpart?

Nay, verily, thou art still a WOMAN, and thou shalt rejoice and suffer, even as a woman!

HELEN ROWLAND

To a woman, the altar is still the End of the Trail; but to a man it is only one of the milestones along the way.

To a woman romance is a fascinating dream which she pursueth to the end of her days; but to a man it is a childish fairy-tale, yea, even a Santa Claus story, in which he soon ceaseth to believe.

To a woman, her first kiss is a sacrament or a sacrilege; but to a man his first kiss is a surprise, an experiment, or an ordeal.

To a woman, home is her stronghold, wherewith she "holdeth" her husband, but to a man it is an anchor, which he is forever "dragging."

To a woman, the admiration and approval of men is food and wine; but to a man, the admiration of women is only a little "relish," and their approval a foregone conclusion.

To a woman, all her love-affairs are sacred remembrances tenderly cherished; but to a man all love affairs are amusing or bitter recollections, even as his last year's follies.

To a woman, a proposal is a triumph and an engagement ring a trophy; but, to a man, a proposal is a private confession of weakness and an engagement ring a public confession of surrender.

To a woman, a wedding ring is a symbol of her faith and security; but to a man a wedding ring is a symbol of his ownership, and marketh its wearer as his private property.

Yea, verily, verily, when a damsel fasteneth on her wedding-veil and trippeth to the altar, it MAY be for love. But when a man climbeth into his wedding-coat and draggeth himself to the altar it is for love, and LOVE alone!

For, unto a man, a wedding is a sacrifical ordeal, and the supreme test of his devotion.

But unto a woman, life without a wedding would be as Christmas without a Christmas tree!

How then, oh thou Foolish One, dost thou think by a Boyish Bob to attain the freedom of Man? For thou canst not "bob" thy SOUL, which is still a woman's, and full of yearnings!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, October 25

A DAY of conflicting planetary operations presages a fluctuating state of affairs. While there should be much expansion and growth in many directions, with new connections and fresh contracts, yet, also, there may be disappointments, delays and obstructions to the wholly satisfactory trend of events. But opportunities should be excellent for future action, and good ground plans should be laid. Care for the health and be not downcast by obstacles, which are momentary.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of excellent opportunity and most encouraging progress and growth in many lines of endeavor, despite some stubborn obstacles of postponements. Care for the health and shun depression.

A child born on this day may be clever and ambitious and may have excellent prospects for success and advancement in life, but it must have patience and optimism inculcated, as there may be tenacious obstacles to overcome.

Right lives by Law and Law subsists by power.—DRYDEN.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A TRIM AND SPORTY STYLE

This stylish coat dress has the popular side closing, with overlapping fronts, and a choice of two collars, one small and rolled, and the other in shawl effect, wide over the shoulders. The garment blouses slightly at the sides above the hips. The sleeve is fitted. Jersey weaves, twill, flannel, silk crepe or satin are excellent materials for this model. Canton crepe would be fine or crepe satin, using the reverse side for facing on the collar and for pipings.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress for a 16-year size will require 2¾ yards of 35-inch material, together with ¾ yard of contrasting material for facing on the shawl collar if made as pictured in the large view. If made with the small collar, 2⅜ yards of material is required. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 1¼ yard.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Perfect Jewel -:- -:- By Fanny Darrell

IF YOU were asked what is the loveliest jewel of all, I wonder what your answer would be? I know mine—and it would unhesitantly be Youth. Youth, the sparkling, scintillating loveliness of innocence and grace. That's the rarest and loveliest jewel of all that is, to my mind.

Youth is sufficient unto itself. It needs no adornment. No pearls, or diamonds, or rubies, or emeralds or sapphires can compare with the brilliance and pricelessness of Youth. So guard it well. See that your Youth is kept lovely. Don't try to overshadow your own loveliness by decking yourself out with jewels. You don't need it! You possess the pearl of great price when you have Youth. You need not Beauty if you have Youth. For when Youth is truly itself, it's the loveliest, most sparkling gem of them all.

LOVE'S AWAKENING -:- A CONTINUATION OF LOVE'S EMBERS

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Graham on Threshold of a New Life

THE heart of a wife is an enigma, rarely solved by her husband, sometimes not even translatable to herself.

There is but one thing certain about it. No matter what his sin against her love, the heart of a wife never fails to pulse in recognition and response to the call of her husband's need, or to tug of memories connected with their life together. He may be dead to her in truth, or in separation, but never can she forget or free her soul of a certain bondage to him.

But when I say "wife" I do not mean the self-centered, flamboyant exponent of our jazz-age unrest, who signs her marriage register with one hand, and figuratively reaches for her divorce decree—and alimony with the other. Perhaps I am unjust, but I believe some other name should be devised for her; that she has no right to the word which has stood through the ages as the symbol of devotion, of loyalty and of faith. The woman who has chosen her husband because she deeply loved him, who has approached her marriage vows with reverence and kept them with fidelity, who has ministered to him "in sickness and in health," and has shared years of joy and sorrow with him—that woman can no more put him wholly out of her heart and memory than she can bear with equanimity the loss of a severed member of her body.

This is the only answer which I, Madge Graham, have been able to find to a long and merciless self-quizzing concerning my attitude toward Dicky, my husband. And it leaves me nearly as impotent to chart any plan for mutual marital happiness as I was a few months ago when I feared that my love for my husband was but a heap of embers, in grave danger of becoming dead, gray ashes.

That fear, however, has gone forever. It vanished upon the night which brought back Harry Underwood, recreant husband of my dearest friend, Lillian, into our lives—the night when I found myself trembling with wild terror at Dicky's danger and thrilling with pride at the way he dominated the situation so filled with peril for all of us. I knew then "beyond all doubting, truly," that Dicky was still my man, that even though the beauty of our romance had been tarnished by our quarrels, our anger, our jealousy, but above all by his awful doubt of me, yet never could my love for him die.

Yet how to build a new structure of happiness upon so slight a foundation! This is my problem as I suppose it is that of thousands of wives who find that their temples of marital love and fealty are but heaps of tumbled stones.

It is a problem the working out of which I cannot much longer delay. We are still at my father's home, the farmhouse of eastern Long Island which has been the scene of so many of our joys and sorrows. But the exigencies of both Dicky's work as illustrator and his magazine venture with Edith Fairfax demanded his residence in or near the city as much as mine is required there by the responsibilities of my position in the organization of Philip Veritzen, the greatest dramatic producer of the country.

I must plan a home with Dicky and must decide the terms upon which we shall live in it—whether we shall continue the arrangement of being apparently lovers but in reality strangers which we have kept up ever since Grace Draper's death following Dicky's terrible doubt of me, or whether we shall wipe the slate clean and begin a new chapter.

It is the end of the Summer, the beginning of the lovely Long Island Autumn. I am loath to leave the farmhouse, which is the center of other emotional problems, apparently as difficult as mine. Harry Underwood and Lillian are still with us, the returned adventurer not yet fully recovered from the illness following his wounding at the hands of Sergius, the murderous conspirator against the government. Lillian as yet has given me no word of comment upon her reconciliation with her husband, nor has Marion Morton, her idolized daughter, betrayed any hint of her reaction to her mother's decision. Yet instinctly I know that Marion is secretly rebellious, and her mother deeply grieved and anxious concerning the future.

But it is Mary Harrison's problem which is causing me the most uneasiness of anything outside my own difficulties. I know that Dicky's exquisitely lovely and rarely gifted young niece is secretly suffering because of Philip Veritzen's maneuvers to separate his son Noel from her and throw him into the company of the Princess Olina of Transvania, known to our little world as Eleanor Lincoln, the chatelaine of The Larches. Mary does not suspect the identity of the princess nor of the handsome youth who calls himself George Jackson, but who is in reality Prince Georges of Trees, once the devoted admirer of Princess Olina, but now unmistakably wooing Mary, much to Noel Veritzen's dismay.

It is a romantic situation surrounding this quartet, two of them are of royal birth, set down among us only because of fantastic accident. But I can see no happiness in the grouping of Noel with Princess Olina and of Prince Georges with Mary, the arrangement so carefully made and fostered by Philip Veritzen because of his desire to unite his son in marriage to the daughter of the Queen of Transvania whom he loved in his youth.

Many times in the week following the discovery of Princess Olina's identity, and her deliverance from the man who was hounding her, have I resolved to appeal to Philip Veritzen in the hope that he might cease encouraging Princess Olina's very open though naive siege of Noel's heart. But always I have been deterred by the knowledge that any personal request of mine to Philip Veritzen was apt to be construed by my employer as an opening for cleverly disguised but unmistakably sentimental advances upon his part.

Sooner or later, however, I must recognize this absurd personal interest with which Philip Veritzen invests his association with me as my employer, and must deal drastically with it. I should be more disturbed over it, should feel guiltily that in some way I must be to blame for his folly were it not that I am constantly piqued by my realization of Edith Fairfax's adoration of Dicky, and of what I believe is her secret determination to win him from me, taking advantage of her close professional association with him.

I suppose that unpleasant cynics would say that we four form the "eternal quadrangle," twenty years ago they called it the "eternal triangle," but that was before the problem of wives working outside the home added a fourth angle to the theorem of marital unrest. But I resent that suppositious imputation hotly. Whatever the feeling of Philip Veritzen and Edith Fairfax may be, I know that I am not romantically interested in my employer, nor do I believe that Dicky really cares for Edith. But my knowledge of Edith's feeling, and Dicky's suspicious jealousy of my employer will be elements of danger to the success of any plan for our renewed happiness.

It is not a particularly pleasant path which opens before me. It is more like a steep mountain road. But at least, in attempting the ascent, I shall be obeying the urge of both my conscience and my heart. The outcome is in higher hands than mine.

DEVILED POTATOES

Boil a pound of potatoes until tender, peel and slice in thick slices. Fry six slices of bacon until crisp. Stir in a level tablespoonful of flour mixed with a teaspoonful of mustard, a saltspoonful of salt, a little chopped pepper and a quarter cupful of vinegar. Stir until smooth, then add a little chopped parsley and some paprika. When hot and smooth, put in the potatoes and add a heaping tablespoonful of chopped chives and a chopped gherkin pickle. Serve hot with steak.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Excesses Quickly Exact Health Toll

"TEMPERANCE and labor are the two best physicians of man." So said a wise man. Indeed, they are words of wisdom. Perhaps you wonder why I say so much about avoiding disease. You think a doc should talk more about pills and powders. The truth is I am far more interested in preventing disease than I am in curing it.

DR. COPELAND

But I beg of you not to misunderstand me. To my mind the conscientious doctor is one of God's nobility. The medical profession on the whole is a group of unselfish men, striving earnestly to wipe out disease, to relieve pain and to add to the span of life.

Did you ever think about this, that the doctor is working every day to do away with illness to destroy his means of income? He is preaching health, knowing all the time that as sickness grows less his income will grow smaller.

You may think I am "appraising myself highly" today. Let me remind you, however, that circumstances have taken me away from the active practice. In a sense I am a looker on at the doctors these days. In this more or less detached position my comments on the medical profession cannot be considered personal or in self-praise. Every family, every individual should select a doctor. He should be "your doctor," "my doctor." There should be at least one doctor who is a welcome caller at your house, whether he comes because his professional services are required, or because he just "drops in" for a minute's chat or a cup of tea.

By the way, do you think to offer that tired man a cup of tea and a cheese sandwich? He would be happy to have one of your good cookies, or a piece of frosted cake. I know his taste!

But there are other physicians besides men and women doctors. And, let me say in passing, some of the ablest physicians in North America are women!

As Rosseau said, temperance and labor are the two best physicians of man. One who lives temperately and works enough to keep the muscles in prime condition rarely needs a doctor.

Temperate eating, temperate drinking, temperate emotional expression, temperate conversations, temperance in all things, will add years to every life. That is what the Apostle Paul had in mind when he said to the Corinthians, "And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things."

Do you ever read Paul's Epistles? I never tire of his philosophy. Listen to these words of Titus: "For a bishop must be blameless, as the steward of God: not self-willed, not soon angry, not given to wine, not striker, not given to filthy lucre. But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate."

Whether bishop or layman, worker or employer, excesses must be avoided. That is what Paul meant. Temperance is indeed a great physician.

You can't have strong muscles, good digestive muscles, good digestion, unless you labor. Physical activity is essential to health.

Let us have our own doctor, friend and adviser, but let us, too, have those others, the two best physicians of man, temperance and labor!

Answer to Health Query

F. A. P. Q.—As the result of playing a musical wind instrument my upper lip enlarged to almost twice its natural size. What can be done?

A.—It would be advisable for you to stop playing the instrument for a while.

J. B. Q.—I would like advice regarding the proper way to get rid of pimples?

A.—You must correct your diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Almost always constipation or at least sluggish bowel movements are present. This must be corrected. Exercise is essential. In many cases some infection in the system is responsible.

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By FAY KING

NOT so many years ago one heard a great deal about this being a "man's world."

Women wanted more freedom and equal rights! They aimed at a single standard!

Today women have a great deal of freedom, and I sometimes think it is even more a man's world now.

What the single-standard women seem to be achieving is: that ALL women are becoming what a few women were once condemned for being.

Free love, lax marriages, eugenic babies, drinking, smoking, petting, and sympathizing with the woman who breaks up your home—all these things make it an easier world for unworthy men.

The less women expect of a man and the more they forgive, the more a man's world it becomes.

But all women are not so foolish.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

St. Louis Fans May Question Motive Behind Ball's Gift to Manush—Roper Explains Princeton's Return to Huddle—Algerian Marathoner Held to Be Greater Than Distance Stars of Past.

FROM St. Louis comes the news that Phil Ball, owner of the American League club of that city, is so peeved because the most-valuable-player prize in the junior circuit was not awarded to Heinie Manush of the Browns, instead of to Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics, that he intends personally to give Manush a financial reward twice as large as that which fell to the Mackian catcher.

Heinie Manush

The most-valuable-player award carried with it a cash prize of $1,000. Ball declares that, to show his appreciation of Manush's work during 1928, and to back up his opinion that the honor should have been voted to Manush, he will double the amount received by Cochrane and will boost Heinie's salary to the extent of $2,000 when he tenders the star hitter a contract for 1929.

BALL may be sincere in his avowal as to the motive that actuates him, but he will have a hard time convincing some St. Louis fans on that point, judging from their attitude toward him during the last three seasons.

While the Mound City end of the recent world series was in progress, some baseball followers there, in discussing unpopular moves made by President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals, declared that Ball had incurred the displeasure of the home fans to an even greater extent.

BALL'S unpopularity, it was related, dated back to the winter following the season of 1925, when Baby Doll Jacobson, one of the best-liked players on the Brown team, held out for a salary of $7,500. Ball's reply to Jacobson's demands was a public statement in the newspapers to the effect that he "would be willing to give the player $750, which was about all he was worth."

Patrons of the Browns resented Ball's statement to such an extent that for some time after the season opened, when they visited Sportsmans Park on game days, they tossed dimes, nickels and even pennies into the club owner's box as a sarcastic tender of charity to assist Ball in paying his players reasonable salaries.

THE situation led the Brown management to dispose of Jacobson in a three-cornered deal with the Athletics and Red Sox before the season of 1926 was half over. Jacobson has since passed out of the major leagues. Under the circumstances, Ball's enemies are apt now to brand his promised gift to Manush as nothing more than a play to re-establish himself in public favor by creating the impresson that parsimony no longer has any place in the business policy of the St. Lous club.

Bill Roper

THOUGH many football fans here and elsewhere have soured on the huddle system, and prefer to see the sport livened up by the signal-barking of a quarterback, Bill Roper, Princeton's head coach, has gone back to the huddle after dropping it for a time this season to give the old method of signal-calling a thorough tryout.

Princeton was the first Eastern university to adopt the huddle. This fall the system was discarded in response to popular clamor and vocal signaling was reintroduced, but in the Virginia game the change proved a failure, the Tiger players complaining that they could not hear the signals because of the noise in the stadium.

WHETHER it was due to the return to the huddle or not, the fact remains that the Tigers performed in improved style last Saturday and rolled up 47 points against Lehigh. So there is little doubt that Princeton will stick to the huddle for the remainder of this season at least.

"At the beginning of the year we decided that the limitations put on the shift had nullified the good results of the huddle," Roper explains. "Moreover, the men had to do some extra running from the huddle, which added up in an afternoon to a good many yards.

"ALSO, the quarterback lost the chance of looking over the line of the defense, to see what tackle had moved over too wide or what end was a bit out of position, or what secondary was woolgathering for a moment. Charley Daly's great maxim was, "Look 'em over up and down the line and hit 'em where they ain't.' A quarterback in a huddle was handicaped in that important matter. So we went back to call signals. And we ran smack into the surprise of our lives. The huddle has become general throughout prep schools. The men couldn't concentrate on their signals. They had never formed the habit. Time after time during the Virginia game one of our guards or tackles would stand up and wave to the crowd to be silent. He had missed his signal because he had never developed the sixth sense which buttoned back the ears of old timers the moment a quarterback began to rattle off the numbers."

BUCS TO HOLD FIRST DRILL TOMORROW

By CARL W. SHATTO.

CARRYING a satchel full of optimism in one hand and a handbag packed with enthusiasm in the other, Odie Cleghorn, manager of the Pirate Hockey Club, arrived here from points North today and started to work clearing the slippery decks for the opening of the training campaign at Duquesne Garden tomorrow. Cleghorn was accompanied by Bert McCaffery, defense man by nature and general utility man when the occasion demands, and a broad smile, and if the Pittsburgh hockey prospects are not roseate, the local ice pilot doesn't know it.

The first practice session has been called for 11 o'clock tomorrow, and Manager Odie expects every skater in the Pirate fold to be present for the getaway session. Rumors of holdouts and absentees, current here recently, disturbed Cleghorn not at all. No surprise was evinced by the Pirate boss over the fact that few players have put in an appearance here as yet. The boys were not expected to put in an appearance before tonight or tomorrow morning, Cleghorn said, and as for holdouts—well, Odie is confident that there won't be any.

Practice sessions are to be held each day from tomorrow until November 15, when the league race gets under way with Boston appearing here. For the first two or three days practice will be limited to one session each day, but after the boys have regained their "ice legs" the Pirate skipper will bear down and hold two hard workouts each day.

Last season the Pirates annexed 10 defeats and a tie in the first 11 starts, and this disastrous get-away was due solely to the fact that Cleghorn was given less than a week in which to round his men into shape. Benny Leonard, new owner of the local franchise, concurs with Cleghorn in the view that the training grind is the most important part of any season, and both are determined that the Bucs shall be fit when the opening gong sounds this year.

Contrary to reports given wide circulation here, only two Pirates have suffered salary reductions, Cleghorn said. All of the regulars have been given increases, Odie intimated, and there is no reason to expect that harmony will not prevail.

Cleghorn further intimated that Pittsburgh had just about abandoned efforts to get Cy Denneny from Ottawa, and Providence as yet has not responded favorably to Pirate bids for Hart.

RANGERS STILL OUT

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(INS.)—Having persuaded John Ross Roach, goalie, Leo Bourgault and Patsy Callighan to sign contracts, Col. John S. Hammond, owner of the New York Rangers, today was planning a trip to Springfield, Mass., over the week-end to confer with two other Ranger hockey players, Frank Boucher and Butch Keeling. Boucher and Keeling are holding out for more money. A previous report that Boucher had agreed to terms proved to be erroneous.

Speaking of Sports

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

CUDDY DE MARCO has a new position. It is that of boxing instructor at the University of Pittsburgh. Not as coach of a varsity sport, but as a teacher of the manly art to the gymnasium classes. If he can find sufficient time between classes, he may take on some fights at the clubs. He is entertaining an invitation to assist Prof. Phil Goldstein, of the Hill, in a lecture at Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

John Marshall, of the Oliver building, calls attention to the fact that the military huddle, a pet device of the New York University eleven, will be seen in Pittsburgh for the first time when Coach Chick Meehan brings his Violets here for the battle with the Tartans, at Forbes Field, November 24. This will be New York U's only game of the season away from New York, where it plays on its own field and at the Yankee Stadium.

So far, both Tech and N. Y. U. have gone undefeated and their meeting may go a long way toward deciding the Eastern championship, coming as it does, just before the end of the season.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY has two big intersectional games in New York flanking its battle with Tech. On November 17, it meets Missouri, and, on Thanksgiving Day, it concludes the season with Oregon State. Other big teams on its slate are Colgate, Georgetown, Fordham, and Rutgers. Battles with Alfred, West Virginia University and Niagara round out the card.

With all the attention that has been focused on the Dukes as a result of their fine record of winning their first four games this season, one feature that should stand out has not been stressed. That is their defensive strength. The Dukes have been scored on only once, and then by W. & J. in the last five minutes of their battle, with many of the Duke regulars out of the lineup. Thus their defense, if anything, is even stronger than their new-found offense. A great deal of interest attaches to the Bluffites' meeting with Geneva at Beaver Falls Saturday. The Convenanters are a strong aggregation and considerable of the well-known fur should fly when these two elevens get together.

HAVING scored its first victory in history over Harvard last Saturday, the Army squad has a nice little letdown this week. All it is called upon to do is to beat a Yale team that is tougher than the Crimson. And between the Yale game and the end of the season are only battles with DePauw, Notre Dame, Carleton, Nebraska and Stanford.

Jack Dunn, manager and owner of the Baltimore Orioles who won the International League pennant so often that the flag race in that circuit became a joke, and who died from heart disease the other day, was an excitable individual as I knew him in Baltimore. He spoke with a nervous, high-pitched voice and was a good man to keep away from when he was worked up. Everybody in Baltimore referred to him as "Dunnie." He had a big idea, which was that the best was none too good, and carried his payroll right up to the limit at all times.

During many seasons Dunn's Orioles were of major league-caliber and bumped off the big league clubs in exhibitions. He turned down numerous offers to manage teams in the big show

MUSHY CALLAHAN GETS DRAW WITH BOB TRACEY

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—(AP.)—Mushy Callahan of Los Angeles, junior welterweight champion, and Bobby Tracey of Buffalo fought 10 rounds to a draw last night. The bout was not for Callahan's title, both fighters having entered the ring above the junior welterweight limit.

The decision of the judges was received by boos from the 3,000 spectators. The Buffalo boxer floored the champion in the third round with a right cross, but Callahan was up before the referee started the count. In the ninth Tracey fell to the floor in a hot exchange of blows, but was up at once.

Bobby La Salle, Los Angeles 148-pounder, knocked out George Russell of Philadelphia, in the second round of their scheduled 10-round semi-windup.

EL QUAFI AND HAYES RACE IN EXHIBITION

WEST NEW YORK, N. J., Oct. 24.—(INS.)—El Ouafi, the Algerian runner who won the Olympic marathon this year and defeated Joie Ray and others last Sunday in a professional marathon, will compete against Johnny Hayes in a special exhibition race here today. Hayes won the 1908 Olympic marathon for the United States.

HARPSTER SMART LEADER

By JESS CARVER.

AMONG the factors influencing the boys to pick Tech over Pitt as the city rivals prepare for their clash in the Stadium on Saturday is the advantage the Tartans hold in point of backfield strength.

The Skibo edge in offensive strength is not mile wide, but, like the suit of clothes on the expense account, it is there. Numerically, there is little to choose, both schools having 12 backs who may be called upon for duty. Pairing these men off, position by position, and comparing them in that way, the Skibos must be awarded an edge.

Howard Harpster.

Capt. Howard Harpster, the Skibo quarterback, punter, passer and the brains of the team, is a better man for the position than any quarter Pitt can offer. He has shown himself to be a smarter player than Edwards. He is as good a ball carrier, a more accurate passer, and will punt, I think, a bit more consistently than the Panther back.

HALFBACKS EVEN

Letzelter and Moorhead or Eyth, the halfbacks who have been starting for the Tartans, reduce the edge that Harpster gives the Plaid backfield a bit when they are sized up alongside Joshua Williams and Toby Uansa. Williams and Toby have been playing a bit better than either Eyth or Moorehead and on a par with "Let's Go" Letzelter, who is really a made-over fullback.

Replacement halfbacks for Tech, including Thayer Flanagan, Joe Morbito, Red Kennedy, Hilty, Kerr, Carlson and Stauffer, are the equal of the Pitt reserve list, made up of Jim Rooney, Pete Bowen, Chet Wilps, Franklin Hood, Phil Goldberg and Andy Petrosky. In one or two cases the Tartans have an edge, though the class of Rooney, Bowen and Hood keeps the Pitt average up.

Bucky Wagner, Pitt's second-string quarterback, may be favorably compared with Pete Stauffer, of Tech, though Bucky lacks Pete's experience.

It is extremely difficult to make a selection between the fullbacks of the respective squads. You have John Karcis, Tech's 230-pound bone-crusher, and you have Tom Parkinson, Pitt's 195-pound line-wrecker. If you were selecting a team, and had your choice between the two, you'd choose John one day and Tom the next. Both are fine fullbacks, both on the offense and defense. When Karcis

C. & I. TO START THIRD SEASON

The Commercial-Industrial League, one of the best basketball circuits in this section, has practically completed arrangements for its third season on the floor. Five of last year's members retain franchises in this season's circuit, namely Duquesne Light, 1927-28 champion; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, Reliance Life Insurance, Kauffmann's and Carnegie Steel Company. Three newcomers, two of which will be the H. H. Robertson Company and the Peoples Savings and Trust Company, will round out an attractive eight-club loop.

All of last year's officers were re-elected at a recent meeting, J. J. Freund, Jr., remaining president; R. J. Mackey, Carnegie Steel Company, vice president; Kenneth F. McNutt, Duquesne Light, secretary, and C. A. Price, Reliance Life, treasurer.

This loop has the support of more than 50,000 employes working for the concerns enrolled and indications point to a successful season on the floor this winter. Teams interested in obtaining the eighth berth in the circuit are asked to call Grant 4200, line 101.

Manager Fred J. Miller of the Goldensons, whose lineup will include all members of the former Pittsburgh Morrys, is booking games at home and abroad with first-class clubs. Write the manager at 1214 Carson street. Klinzing, Ramsay, McVicker, McGuirk, Gross and Wallace will play for the Goldensons this winter.

The Ritz Club, one of the best Negro basketball teams organized in this vicinity, is eager to arrange games at home and abroad with first-class teams. William G. Nunn, 573 Parke avenue, is doing the booking for the Ritz five.

SEKYRA VICTOR

AKRON, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—Joe Sekyra, Dayton heavyweight, won the decision over Frankie Wine of Butte, Mont., in a 10-round bout here last night. Newspapermen at the ringside gave Sekyra seven of the 10 rounds. Sekyra weighed 181, Wine 175.

DUNN FUNERAL TOMORROW

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—The body of Jack Dunn, owner and manager of the Baltimore Orioles who dropped dead while attending bird dog field trials near here, lay in state at his home yesterday while hundreds of his friends and admirers paid their last tribute.

Telegrams and letters of condolence were being received by his widow from all parts of the country and from men in all walks of life. Included in the letters of sympathy were many from leading figures in the sports world.

Thousands of Baltimore baseball fans, all of whom looked upon Dunn as their friend, were expected to view his body before the funeral services, which will take place tomorrow morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Steps toward reorganizing the Baltimore baseball club are being deferred until after the funeral. Mrs. Dunn, according to Charles H. Knapp, who was the manager's legal adviser, owns 75 per cent of the stock of the club. Other stockholders include Mr. Knapp, James O'Hara and Fritz Maisel, third-baseman and captain of the team.

Local Cue League Opens Nov. 5

By CARL W. SHATTO.

A LESS lengthy race, with fewer players competing under handicaps changed to make for a closer little chase, is the program for the 1928-29 campaign in the Pittsburgh Three-Cushion Billiard League.

The league's new season is to open on Monday, November 5, with five parlors represented by the following players: James Crookston, Recreation Parlors, East Liberty, represented by Bill Eichenmiller and Matthew McClure; Ellis Recreation Parlors, Diamond street, represented by Billy Greenwood and a second player to be selected; Christ Dimling Parlors, Smithfield street, represented by George Pitfield; Kalmer's Parlors, Oakland, represented by Bobby Carter, and John Clarke Parlors, McKeesport, represented by Joe Mackin.

The Crookston and Clark parlors are admitted to the league this season for the first time, and McClure, Mackin and the second Ellis entry are players who will be making their debut in league competition. McClure is a former balk line star who won honors in national amateur competitions, and Mackin is reported to be a cueist of the highest caliber.

ENTRY TO BE DECIDED

Charles Ellis' second entry is to be decided in a tournament which opened at the Ellis parlors last night. Gold, who substituted for Currie in the late weeks of last season's campaign, is one of the 16 players entered in the tournament, and it may be that he again will take cue in hand to uphold Ellis honors. The first round of the tourney is an elimination affair, and the eight survivors are to engage in round robin competition, the winner automatically to become the second Ellis entrant.

The Kenny parlors in Oakland and the Brunswick parlors in East Liberty have surrendered league representation. Eddie Smith, who finished third last season when representing Dimling's, is the only player of note not back in the fold.

Bobby Carter, who won the league championship last season, and Billy Greenwood, who finished a close second, will find victory more difficult of attainment this year. Carter will shoot for 48 rather than 45 this season, and Greenwood, former Inter-State League entrant, will have to click off 53 billiards to win rather than the 50 which was his goal last season.

PITFIELD IN GOOD POSITION

This change leave George Pitfield, who finished a good fourth, in an advantageous position, for Pitfield's goal remains at 40. Mackin and McClure also will shoot for 40 and Eichenmiller and the second Ellis entry will be 45-billiard men.

The league season is to be abbreviated by about three weeks. Each of the seven entrants will participate in 36 games in the new campaign, whereas last year each of the eight entrants participated in 42 games.

Although valuable prizes are awarded to league winners, no admission is charged to league matches. The league first came into being last fall, and the matches proved extremely popular with local cue fans.

The complete schedule will be drafted by league officials the latter part of this week.

ROACH HIGHEST PAID

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—John Ross Roach, crack goalie acquired by the New York Rangers recently in a trade with Toronto for Lorne Chabot, has signed a contract. Although his salary was not announced the Ranger management said Roach now is the "highest paid goalie in the league."

SCHOOL ELEVENS PLAY TOMORROW

SEVERAL changes have been made in the city scholastic football card this week. The Schenley-Oliver feature battle will be played tomorrow on the Bellefielders' gridiron instead of on the North Siders' field. The Westinghouse-Fifth Avenue mixup has been moved from Friday to tomorrow, and will be played on the Herron Hill grounds.

CITY LEAGUE.
STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

Section One.

	Won.	Lost.	Tied.
South	0	3	0

	Won.	Lost.	Tied.
South Hills	2	0	1
Perry	1	0	1
Allegheny	1	1	0
Oliver	1	1	0
Carrick	0	2	0

It is anticipated that the Oliver-Schenley game will bring out the best in both teams. Schenley's Section 1 contender has been sailing high, wide and heavy in its league contests, while Oliver, on the other hand, has shown a most formidable machine. It is anticipated they will give the Gross outfit a real test.

The championship-holding Silver Lakers of Westinghouse are quite overwhelming favorites over Fifth avenue. The game will mark the last of the early-season warm-up contests for the titleholders.

Peabody High is preparing for its invasion of the Buckeye State again Saturday, when its eleven travels into Ohio for another exhibition.

In Section 2, Carrick and Langley will fight to keep from the cellar place in the ladder.

In a non-league combat South Hills will be fighting Dormont, and both teams are eager for victory.

PHIL GOLDSTEIN TO TRAIN IN NEW YORK

Phil Goldstein, the Hill's pride, will do his training in New York for his 10-round windup battle with Cuddy DeMarco in Motor Square Garden next Monday night, while Cuddy will prepare for the bout in the gymnasium of Webster Hall, where he now resides.

It will be a "make or break" fight for each insofar as local prestige is concerned. Phil lost some ground when he was beaten in the same ring by Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, last week, while DeMarco has been guilty of some indifferent showings here in his last few starts. Each has something to make up for and will be more or less eliminated by a defeat.

Lots of action is expected at McKeesport tomorrow night, when Promoter Jim McGirr will present his weekly show, with Johnny Ryan, of Erie, and Davey Adelman, of Philadelphia, bantamweights, in the main bout and Dominick Profio, of Cecil, meeting Jackie Murray, of Center avenue, in a return bout in the semi-final, along with two other bouts, involving Battling Gizzy, of Donora, against Frankie Moran, of Homewood, and Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, against Jimmy Kane, of McKeesport.

George Hoffman, former National amateur heavyweight champion, boxes Jack Humbeck, the Belgian, in New York tonight.

Freddie Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, has been matched with Young Rudy, of Charleroi, instead of with Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, for the 10-round main bout at Washington, Pa., next Monday night. This will be Fitzgerald's third appearance there. He drew with Joe Colombo and defeated Terry Lingo in his other battles in the Gardens. Harry Spencer, of Washington, will box George Pavlic, of Johnstown, in the eight-round semi-final.

The Motor Square card for Monday night has been completed. In addition to the DeMarco-Goldstein main bout, Jackie Rodgers, local Negro flash, will meet Dan Billick, of Duquesne, in the semi-final; Dominick Profio, of Cecil, will clash with Young Chappy, of Scranton; Bob Colero is paired with Dave McConnell, Luke Carney's Irish lightweight from the North Side, and Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, meets Nunci Villa in the four-round opener.

Willie Davies, of Charleroi, and Johnny McCoy, of San Antonio, will headline the card at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night. McCoy is the veteran who defeated Davies in the flyweight tournament in California about a year ago.

Young Piazzi, of Mt. Washington, who is challenging Dominick Profio these days, is a member of the local fire department.

ROGERS AFTER CAPABLE SUB

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 24.—Head Coach I. E. Rodgers, of the West Virginia University football team, continued his quest for a capable substitute for Eddie Stumpp's place yesterday afternoon.

In a long scrimmage, Bus Larue was outstanding as a signal caller and ball carrier from the left halfback position. However, Louis Varney also displayed fine ability in plunging through the line and in whistling passes to his teammates, who completed the aerials for repeated gains.

Big Sleepy Glenn and Cassie Ryan also took turns at running the team, and one of these veterans may get the call against Lafayette Saturday.

Fight Results

At San Antonio—Leroy Dugan defeated Pal Moore, 10 rounds; Battling Shaw defeated Pablo Alejandro, 6 rounds.

At Williamsport—Joey Kuhns defeated Dorey Shimar, 8 rounds; Art (Baby Face) Feeser knocked out Joey Barnes, 4 rounds; Battling O'Brien and Young Sharkey drew, 6 rounds.

At Akron—Joe Sekyra defeated Frankie Wine, 10 rounds.

At Chicago—Mushy Callahan and Bud Tracy, drew, 10 rounds; Bobby LaSalle knocked out George Russell, 2 rounds.

At New York—Joey Kauffmann and Marty Silvers drew, 10 rounds; Jack Phillips defeated Eddie Shapiro, 10 rounds; Georgie Cohen knocked out Raymond Barpon, 1 round.

At Indianapolis—Eddie Shea defeated Frankie Garcia, 10 rounds; Windy Meyers defeated Snake Aguinaldo, 8 rounds; Jimmy Brown knocked out Johnny Budd, 2 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Al Dundee and Joe Dragan drew, 10 rounds.

At Portland, Ore.—Young Nationalista defeated Charley Pinto, 10 rounds.

At West Palm Beach, Fla.—Red Hooks defeated Charley Calmar, 10 rounds; Jimmy Jackson knocked out Jack Ryan, 8 rounds.

At Jacksonville, Fla.—Bob Goodwin defeated Kid Williams, 10 rounds; Dick Gore defeated Eddie Cohen, 10 rounds.

WOMEN WANT CONTROL

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—A national women's golf association, with independent control of all golfing affairs of the fair sex in America, is the goal toward which feminine golfdom is headed, according to expressions of leaders at the annual meeting of the Women's Western Golf Association.

This body is successfully independent of men and always has been, but the national championship is now held by direction of the United States Golf Association—a golf contest for the women of the country held by the men. Among those who favored such a plan was Mrs. Robert M. Cutting, retiring president of the women's western and member of the women's advisory committee of the U. S. G. A.

Invitations for the holding of the 1929 championship were received from Mayfield Club, Cleveland, and Oakland Hills Club, Detroit. It is likely that the committee will select one of these cities for the event and a tentative plan is afoot to hold it within a week of the national women's championship, which may be played in one of those two cities also.

PENN ENDS SHIFTED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—John Ball, of Wilmington, Del., was placed at end in place of Bill Sullivan, of Boston, when the Pennsylvania football team scrimmaged with the freshmen eleven yesterday. Ball started the season at end, but gave way to Sullivan before the first game. His showing against Penn State Saturday convinced coaches he was the man for the job.

GOALIE BENICK REAL STAR

By TOM BIRKS.

WHENEVER a goalkeeper, in the course of an afternoon's work, makes up his mind to stop a couple of penalty kicks that his mates have been foolish enough to give away, it is worthy of more than passing notice, so if Mr. Benick, the young goalkeeper of the Corinthians will stand up and take a bow, the fans will applaud.

Last Sunday afternoon the Corinthians, who usually play their home games around Castle Shannon, decided to take their home game with Dunleavy to Curry. Quite a number of motives might have prompted that move, one was the fact that Dunlevy, in the past 15 years, has played some wonderful cup tie and league battles on the little Curry field. Another motive might have been that the ground at Grove was entirely out of the question. Anyhow, the stage was all set at Curry for Benick to do his stuff, and he did. To the uninitiated in soccer lore, a penalty kick is a play where the ball is placed on a spot 12 yards from the goal line, directly in the center between the posts. The kicker has a six-yard run to smash the ball, and poor goalkeeper has nothing to do but stand on the goal line, anticipate just where the ball will be shot for, move about five yards in the fraction of a second and save the goal. The great American reputation attained by Bobby Boyle, Western Pennsylvania goalkeeper, was through the diagnosing of penalty kick. Boyle studied kickers until it became an art with him. Probably Benick is adopting the same tactics as the great Bobby, for when any goal keeper saves two penalties in the course of one game, as we said before, it is a soccer feat worthy of more than passing comment.

It seems as though Manager Balsarini's troubles are not going to be covered so easily. When the Green and Gold outfit was late getting started, Nit gave the boys permission to sign elsewhere until he could get his own troubles unraveled. All Heidelberg's players signed and played with other clubs on the agreement that when Heidelberg finally did get lined up, they would return to Carnegie. But, when last Sunday's game was played, Balsarini found himself faced with a protest over the eligibility of some of the players.

The Pittsburgh Soccer Club showed its strength in the Swissvale game last Saturday. Tommy Dolan must have been giving the boys plenty of hard talking following that Dunlevy game, when all kinds of scoring chances were passed up. Last Saturday against the crack Swissvale defense, the Pittsburghers ran wild and netted the ball five times.

Johnny O'Connell, popular baseball catcher, is handling the Verona outfit and expects to stop Patrizio's club. Coach Restelli has called practice sessions this week to iron out the defects that cropped up in the game with Bloomfield. With so much at stake in this game the clubs have engaged the best officials to handle the contest. The game will be called at 3 p. m.

because he had a better proposition running his own club and being his own boss. In fact, it was claimed at times that he was running the league, so thoroughly did his teams dominate it, and, indeed, he did have a "piece" of some of the other clubs when they got into financial difficulties and had to be carried along.

Horse-racing at the Maryland tracks always cut heavily into the Orioles' attendance in the spring and fall and Dunnie was out many thousands of dollars on this account. He depended considerably for his financial welfare on the huge sums he received for players whom he sold to the big show.

JACK DEMPSEY, in a confession, says that he never went into a fight that he wasn't a little bit scared and always prayed before a fight. A lot of preliminary fighters will tell you that this is the bunk and that they never get scared, but Dempsey's words coincide with Benny Leonard's remarks when the retired lightweight champion was here recently to close the deal for the control of the local hockey club.

"Say, you've got to have at least 50 fights before you get to know what it's all about," Benny said. "I know it was that way with me. I was supposed to be a smart young fighter, and I was scared stiff half the time. The crowd and the lights and everything else frightened me. Even when I boxed Richie Mitchell I still was at the stage where ring-fright overtook me. I floored Mitchell twice in the first round and then he sent me down. As I looked up at him, he loomed like a heavyweight. Say, he was so big, looking up from the floor at him, that I was half afraid to get up. If you've never been knocked down in a fight and want to get some idea of how big your opponent can appear, just kiss the canvass and try this stunt of looking up at him."

NORTHWESTERN TO BE THREAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—Precedent that had demanded Ohio State's annual obeisance to Michigan and Wisconsin's bowing to Notre Dame may take another blow Saturday if Dick Hanley and his Northwestern Wildcats have anything to say about the matter.

Coach Hanley leads the Northwestern eleven into Memorial Stadium at Champaign for a homecoming game with the University of Illinois, 1927 champions. The Wildcats have won only one of their last 12 games with Illinois and have lost seven straight since the lone victory in 1912, when the count was 6-0, in their favor.

It is true that the Hanley-trained team are far from favorites in the impending battle with the Conference champions. But it is also true that Northwestern has an unusually strong over-head game in which Illinois showed itself to be noticeably weak against Indiana last week.

With a known strength in the air Hanley yesterday worked the varsity on a running attack with much time spent in showing what should be done inside of the opponents' 20-yard line.

At Illinois, a freshman team played havoc with the varsity, sending Root and Schultz through for repeated gains. Coach Zuppke is not taking the Northwestern team lightly and has announced scrimmages every night this week.

Coach Spears, of Minnesota, drilled the Gophers in defense against passes—a style of game which he is expecting Iowa to resort to this week when the two undefeated teams tangle at Iowa City. Kakela, regular center, was still out of the game with a bad leg, but the remainder of the squad was in good condition.

Burt Ingwerson started intensive practice at Iowa, spending much time strengthening the line against the bone-crushing tactics of Minnesota. All of the varsity came through the Ripon game without injuries.

The outlook at Chicago was just a little brighter, as all but three regulars reported to Coach A. A. Stagg for practice. Two varsity elevens were put through a stiff scrimmage against the freshmen with the "Old Man" emphasizing defense against Purdue's passing attack.

At Lafayette, Coach Jimmy Phelan drilled two Purdue varsity teams on defense against freshman teams, using Chicago plays. Heeding the word of his scouts that Chicago had Minnesota at its mercy in passing, Phelan drilled his men in breaking up the aerial game.

Pat Page sent the Indiana grid men through one of the heaviest drills of the season in preparation for the homecoming game with Ohio State.

The Michigan line probably will have two changes when the teams start against Wisconsin.

CAPABLANCA LOSES CHESS TOURNEY LEAD

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—Capablanca of Cuba was ousted from the lead in the international chess masters' tournament yesterday when Spielmann of Austria won two of the three adjourned games that were played off. He has an advantage of half a point over Capablanca. The latter did not play. The summary:

Sixth round—Retl, Czechoslovakia, lost to Nimzowitsch, Denmark, who won a piece.

Eighth round—Nimzowitsch, Denmark, lost to Spielmann, Austria, who won a pawn.

Eighth round—Reti lost to Rubinstein, Poland, who won a pawn.

Tenth round—Rubinstein, Poland, lost to Spielmann, who won a pawn.

Players.	Won.	Lost.
Spielmann	6	3
Capablanca	5½	2½
Nimzowitsch	4½	4½
Reti	4	5
Tartakower	3½	4½
Marshall	3½	5½
Rubinstein	3	6

The pairings for the eleventh round: Nimzowitsch vs. Rubinstein; Spielmann vs. Tartakower, and Capablanca vs. Marshall; Reti, a bye.

CRAFTON GRAD TIGER STAR

By JULIUS LEVIN.

HOLMES (TRIX) BENNETT, former star quarterback of the Crafton High School football team, promises to join other prominent native Pittsburghers who have won for themselves a place in Princeton's Hall of Fame, judging by his work in the Lehigh game at Princeton last Saturday, when the Tigers swamped the Bethlehem gridders by a 47-to-0 score.

With Ed Wittmer, another Pittsburgher, sitting on the sidelines as a result of injuries, Coach Bill Roper called upon the former Crafton boy to fill the vacancy in the varsity backfield and all Bennett did was to score three of the seven touchdowns credited the Nassau eleven, kicked two placements for extra points, threw a forward pass which resulted in another touchdown and conducted himself in a manner that stamped him as the outstanding star of the one-sided battle.

PASSES AND KICKS WELL

Throughout the three periods in which he participated, Bennett acquitted himself creditably with his passes and fine punting, one of his boots going 55 yards, and all of which were beautiful floating spirals well over 40 yards.

His broken field running, however, made the biggest impression on the 15,000 fans who attended the game. It was almost impossible to bring him to earth once he got away. On one occasion he laid two Lehigh halfbacks in the turf with as wicked a stiff arm as has been seen in Palmer Stadium in years.

Bennett's football brilliance is not confined to Princeton alone, as the former local star played a wonderful game at quarterback and halfback at Crafton High School and at Kiski Preparatory School.

He was one of the main cogs in the Crafton High machine of 1922, 1923 and 1924, being captain and quarterback of the 1924 eleven which won the Allegheny County Scholastic championship. Graduating in 1925, Bennett entered Kiski, where he starred for two years on Coach Jim Marks' Saltsburg eleven.

ENTERED IN 1927

He enrolled at Princeton last year and was a member of the Tiger Freshmen team. Being a sophomore, Bennett still has two years of varsity football at Princeton, during which time he may emulate the brilliant achievements of Al Wittman, Maury Trimble, Frank Glick, Ed McMillan, Stanton Keck, Joe Bartell and other Pittsburgh products who helped place Princeton in the gridiron sun.

The Bennetts no longer make their home in Crafton, having moved to Cleveland last year, but the football enthusiasts in that section still recall vividly how Bennett led his high school team to victories over the strongest elevens in this vicinity.

RUTH, GEHRIG BENEFIT SPORT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

THE baseball magnates owe Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig a debt that will hardly be repaid.

At the present time the Bambino and Columbia are going about the land making countless friends for baseball. Naturally they are being remunerated, but the sport itself is drawing the bigger benefits through the actions of the two great players.

At Columbus yesterday Babe and Lou spent part of the day in the entertainment of children, including those little folks who are confined to the hospitals of the city.

Ruth's finest quality, perhaps, is his natural love for children. He is never too busy to go out of his way to spread cheer where it will do endless good.

There is a lot of talk these days about golf luring young boys away from baseball, but so long as the game has performers like Babe, the diamond sport will not suffer to any big degree.

What would be the decision of the average boy if he could choose between caddying for Walter Hagen or sitting on the bench with Babe Ruth?

EASTERNERS PERFECTING PASSING

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—The East's major college football elevens, finding scoring becoming more difficult with each succeeding week, devoted most of their practice period yesterday to perfecting forward passing offensives.

New York University, recalling Colgate's stonewall defense of a year ago, has no hope of piercing the Maroon line this Saturday even with such ball carriers as Strong and Follett. Instead, Chick Meehan hopes to score through the air. He replaced Jinx O'Hearin, varsity quarterback, with Archie Roberts in practice. Roberts weighs about 25 pounds less than O'Hearin, but is a superior passer. Most of Headcoach Abell's difficulties at Colgate consisted of finding a varsity fullback. He had Vaughan, Ed Hero, and MacAluso at that post.

Dartmouth, a forward passing team already, devoted attention to that specialty in preparation for the Harvard battle while the Crimson did likewise at Cambridge.

Mal Stevens, at Yale, welcomed a rainy day for it gave him a chance to instruct the Bulldogs in the extremely difficult art of handling a wet ball. Army, which meets Yale at New Haven, next, was put through a strenuous drill although five regulars were absent because of injuries suffered in the Harvard battle.

The Princeton Tigers, hoping to stop Cornell's winning streak, scored twice on an "all-star" team consisting chiefly of the coaches. It took a long forward pass, Bennett to Jones, and a 60-yard dash by Jack Norman to turn the trick. Rain interfered with Dobie's practice at Ithaca, necessitating scheduling of a scrimmage for tomorrow.

While Navy preparations for the Pennsylvania game were held up by monthly examinations, the Red and Blue drilled under the glare of flood lights. The dope favors Penn to win by a decisive margin but Lou Young, apparently, is taking no chance.

There was no rest at Fordham which faces Washington and Jefferson at the Polo Grounds on Saturday.

CARNEGIE TECH

cuts 'em down behind the line, they don't feel like carrying the ball for a play or two. And when Parkinson raps 'em, they seldom get up smiling.

Karcis, who is a good passer, may establish a slight edge over the Panther star for that reason, but with Harpster throwing nine out of 10 for Tech, all Karcis has been used for so far is a threat. As far as the passing goes, Parkinson can heave the ball pretty well, himself. He demonstrated more ability at line busting in the one hard game Pitt has played than Karcis has for Tech. Tom ripped the West Virginia line to shreds, while Karcis was just fair against Wash-Jeff.

Whitey Walenchus, Parkinson's understudy, is a good fullback and ranks close to Tom as a defensive back. Lacking the experience, he compares favorably with Letzelter, who may be accounted the Tech second fullback.

It would seem, then, that Harpster is the gent who establishes Tech superiority in the backfield. Right, he is just that. He'd make any backfield look good.

DUKES DRILL HARD

If the Dukes are going to be beaten this year—and the chances are they will be—Saturday looks like the date of the setback. Geneva, according to well-fed scouts, has another great football team. Any team that can run over Thiel 28-0, whether Stan Berkman was in form or not, deserves credit. Geneva did just that.

Coach Layden and his assistant, the genial Mr. Robert (Pat for short) Reagan, gave the Bluff squad a long and hard drill yesterday. They concentrated on the aerial attack, the department of the game they intend to work overtime against the Covenanters.

The team emerged from the Loyola game in good shape. No one was seriously injured, though some of the linemen were a bit battered. Buff Donnelli, the Duke captain, played but a few minutes in the final period, and Doggo Burns, crack halfback, was in the press box during the game, resting his injured knee. Both will be fit for action against the Genevians Saturday.

EXPECT BIG CROWD

Graduate Manager of Athletics John Holohan has arranged for a special train to carry the Duke followers to Beaver Falls. The school band will accompany the team. Holohan expects at least 3,000 fans from the city to invade Beaver Falls.

At the Geneva end, Director of Athletics Edgecomb is building temporary wooden bleachers to supplement the seating capacity of Reeves Stadium. The game is the most important in the Beaver Valley and will virtually decide the conference championship.

KAUFFMAN, SILVERS FIGHT 10-ROUND DRAW

Chillysauce

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of the midnight ride of a load of beer—

'Twas a stormy night on the lonely lake,
But these are the chances the brave boys take;
The boss of the bootleggers knew the tricks,
And he never failed to put on the "fix";
"Just give me the signs from the headlight glare—
Don't cross me up," he advised with care;
"One if by land and two if by sea,
And I on the opposite shore will be,
Ready to head for the Pittsburgh pike,
And I'll make the grade or my name ain't Spike."
So into the night and the early morn,
The stuff that cheers o'er the lake was borne.
And the driver laughed at the law's long arm
As he speeded by ev'ry village and farm.

And that, my dears, is your bedtime tale—
But the bootlegger didn't go to jail.

Steve Swetonic is the sort of an athlete any manager or owner likes to see around, aside from his fine ability on the diamond. Several major league teams are hot on the trail of the smart right-hand pitcher, who is generally regarded as the best flinger in the American Association.

Winning 20 and losing only eight games for the Indianapolis club, champions of two Class A. A. circuits, the Pittsburgh youth naturally is anxious to advance in his profession. Steve yesterday talked in an interesting vein on many topics of the diamond sport.

The Yankees tried hard to annex Steve during the heat of their quest for American League honors, but at the time their agents approached the Hoosier officials, Steve and his mates were deeply engrossed on their own race, and as Swetonic was the ace of the Hoosier slab staff the owners of the club frowned upon an offer for his services. This may sound like a "tough break" for the native son, as he probably would have shared in the world series pot, but Steve is of the kind who thinks that such a thing is all for the best.

The Pirates may get Swetonic in the long run owing to the pleasant relations that exist between the Pittsburgh and Indianapolis clubs. Such a deal would be pleasing to the pitcher, and if it should come to pass the fans would see a "sweet" battery in action in Steve and Roy Spencer, former Pirate, who was behind the bat for the Hoosiers this year.

Spencer, re-purchased by the Pirates, is highly praised by his team-mates. As a Bucco Roy did not put the same spirit in his work he exemplified in the American Association, but according to Steve, Spencer was a bearcat as the Hoosier rode to victory in their league before trimming Rochester for added honors. Roy can throw, hit, run; in fact he is the "money" if he continues to hustle. Either he or Rolly Hemsley stand to beat Charlie Hargreaves out of the first-string job next season.

OIL CITY HIGH ELEVEN IS BEATEN BY WARREN

OIL CITY, Oct. 24.—Outclassed in every department, Oil City's high school football aggregation went down to defeat at the hands of the unbeaten Warren High team, 31 to 0. The game was a pretty exhibition of football. Warren utilized 18 first downs in crossing the Oil City goal line for the first three touchdowns of the contest. Warren, in fact, sent a huskier, more experienced line on the field, and this paved the way for the clever backs. The Leidig-coached backfield sports a wealth of clever plays and had plenty of material in reserve.

FLOOR PRACTICE STARTS

FRANKLIN, Oct. 24.—Basketball practice among the boys' teams at the Y is already getting started. It is yet too early to ascertain, however, how many teams are likely to be in the passer field this year. Observers declare, however, that there will be fewer teams bidding for public support.

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

ner turned professional, ran Joie Ray, Arthur Newton, Juri Lossman and Sam Richman and four other starters off their feet, some Eastern running authorities express the belief that the Algerian could have beaten Longboat and the other stars of the past.

AND at that Ouafi did not establish a new world indoor marathon record, as the officials presiding over Sunday's race erroneously announced. The Arab's time was 2 hours, 44 minutes, 55 2-5 seconds, whereas Dorando, in his first New York indoor race with Hayes 20 years ago, covered the distance in 2:44:20 2-5, and Sidney Hatch, at Chicago in 1909, hung up a mark of 2:44:05 2-5.

Despite his failure to set a new indoor record, however, the experts believe that Ouafi might have done so if pressed, as he did beat the best marks of Longboat and Hayes and finished so fresh after a sensational sprint to the leadership at 22 miles that he convinced all present he is one of the most remarkable running machines in history.

ANY old or new candidate on the Pittsburgh hockey club's list for this coming season who may be counting upon being chosen for the center position is going to find himself up against the stiffest kind of an argument. For it was no idle statement nor mere bit of by-play when Paddy Sullivan announced that he was going to try a comeback. The little dentist was in deadly earnest, and from the time training begins tomorrow he is certain to be one of the hardest workers on Odie Cleghorn's squad. Paddy says he means business this fall, and to those who know his ability and who have noted his present fine condition, that determination on his part amounts almost to assurance that he will be a regular on the team, as when Sullivan is right there are mighty few center icers in the game who can be called his equals.

PRESIDENTS TO GO EAST

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 24.—It will be a crippled Washington and Jefferson College football squad that leaves here tomorrow night for New York City, to engage a fast and aggressive Fordham University eleven at the Polo Grounds Saturday afternoon. Six of the regular varsity players came out of the Carnegie Tech struggle with various joints twisted and ailing. Capt. Carl Aschman and Jap Douds, who were not in good condition when they entered the Tech game, will likely be withheld from the Fordham struggle, and there is a possibility that others may not be started. Head Coach Andy Kerr has been giving substitutes a large amount of attention in workouts thus far this week. Fordham has a dangerous aerial attack, and particular attention is being given to perfecting a defense to stop it.

FIRST STRING REVAMPED

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 24.—(AP.)—A determination to avenge the defeats of the past few years is spurring on the Lehigh squad in its preparation for the game with Muslenberg on Saturday. Coach Tate has revamped his first string squad. Capt. John Kirkpatrick, shifted from tackle to a permanent post at end, was the only senior on the team.

Pennsylvania Needs More and Wider Paved Highways

The concrete highways of Pennsylvania are famous for their durability and their fine riding qualities. They have done much to increase the prestige and prosperity of this state.

Pennsylvania has 90,000 miles of country highways. Less than one-sixth are surfaced, and there are still many miles on the State Highway System that are not adequately improved. About 5,000 miles are paved with concrete, the ideal paving material for modern traffic.

Automobile registration in Pennsylvania, as elsewhere, shows a tremendous annual increase. There is every reason to believe that the increase will continue for many years.

Highway building must not fall behind automobile production. Existing roads must be widened and poor roads must be paved.

Rail Heads Tell What's What in Middle-West, Northwest.

—By B. C. FORBES.—

IN THE MIDDLEWEST, Oct. 23.

HOW'S business? How is agriculture? What are the prospects?

Railway presidents whose lines serve far-flung territories today furnish encouraging answers for readers of this column.

A. DOWNS, president of the Illinois Central system, and formerly president of the Georgia Central, who keeps in closest possible touch with developments, says:

"Business this year has seemed good or bad, depending chiefly upon the viewpoint of the commentator. In some lines the improvement over early 1928 prospects has been remarkable. The grain crops have overcome the handicap of unfavorable weather at the beginning of the season to reach wholly unanticipated high yields. It has been a good year, also, on the whole, for dairymen and stockraisers.

"In industry likewise there are encouraging factors, notably the record-breaking production of automobiles and automotive equipment, and the continued great activity in building. These favorable trends have stimulated employment and payrolls in many industries.

"OFFSETTING these conditions are such unfavorable ones as the damage done to the cotton crop by weather and boll weevil and the relatively low level of activity in the coal industry.

"With a carry-over of 5,700,000 bales less than last year, present indications are for a 1928 cotton crop exceeding actual 1927 production by little more than 1,000,000 bales, whereas early anticipations were for a crop exceeding that of last year by 2,000,000 bales.

"In the Mississippi delta, the principal cotton-producing section of Illinois central territory, the increased acreage devoted to cotton this year because of the 1927 flood losses, is offset by lower yields. The demand for coal is now increasing under seasonal pressure, and with stocks in bins about at normal there is a prospect of somewhat improved conditions for the remainder of the year.

"THE South cannot help but feel the shock of the loss of 1,000,000 anticipated bales of cotton, and yet that shock has been greatly lightened by the marvelous developments in the direction of diversification, not only in agriculture but in all economic activity. The South, once dependent so largely upon this one crop, is adding year by year to the foundation upon which its economic structure rests. Great expansion in the manufacture of dairy products, rapid though it has been, has not outrun the increasing demand.

"Taking the country as a whole, the picture of agriculture has been brightened during the year. This is confirmed by the increased sale of farm implements and other products for the farm trade. This continued improvement is significant because of the indicated increase in the purchasing power of the farm population.

"The optimistic view that is justified by this general predominance of favorable over unfavorable conditions, is further confirmed by the anticipations of the regional advisory boards of railway shippers, from which predictions of increased traffic are now being received. These boards, organized to promote the co-operation of industrial, agricultural and railway representatives for the common good, have, in addition to their important contribution toward that end, also justified confidence in their business forecasts.

"THE financial results of railway operation this year, taking the country as a whole, are so unsatisfactory to justify a reiteration of the oftenmade but ever-true statement that adequate earnings are the price that must be paid for good service and if earnings are inadequate, service is bound to suffer."

CARL R. GRAY, president of the Union Pacific system, thus tersely covers conditions in many states:

"I have just completed a month's trip which included all inter-mountain coast states. Business generally is very good and freight movement so far this year better than last. Lumber conditions in the northwest, which have been dragging, are improved. Kansas has bumper wheat and corn crops. Nebraska is one-third short in corn. Eastern Washington and Oregon are one-third short of last year in wheat, but fruit of all kinds in the northwest is excellent.

"Grape movement in California is below last year on account of market conditions, movement of automobiles to the West is considerably better than last year. Banking conditions are very favorable throughout the territory, and I believe we will have normal winter business conditions."

BULLS SWEEP STOCKS ON TO NEW HIGHS

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—The "bull" movement in stock prices went merrily on its way today with at least two score issues pushed into new high ground on a tremendous volume of trading. The advance was one of the most comprehensive in recent weeks, embracing a wide assortment of steels, oils, coppers, cans, public utilities, rails, specialties and merchandising issues. More than 1,000,000 shares changed hands in the first hour, with the accumulation of orders so large that the ticker fell 45 minutes behind the market by early afternoon.

Although cautionary advices continued to pour forth from several of the large commission houses, the public appetite for stocks showed no signs of dimunition. Today's advance was stimulated by the publication of a series of unusually favorable earnings reports, Packard, Graham-Page, General Electric and the Northern Pacific Railroad being among the many corporations to show substantial gains over last year.

Wall street also was immeasurably relieved by the further easing of credit conditions. Call money was in plentiful supply at the renewal figure of 6 per cent and time money also was available at a substantial concession below the rates of a week and a month ago. The reduction in commercial demands, reflected in the decline of borrowings at the Federal Reserve banks and the recent imports of gold gave promise of relatively easy rates until the approach of the holiday season.

Coppers moved steadily forward with the demand stimulated by talk of higher dividends on Kennecott and some of the other shares. New peak prices were registered by Anaconda, Cerro De Pasco, Chile, Kennecott, Granby, Miami and Seneca.

Establishment of a new high record by U. S. Steel common at 166½ revived interest in the steel group. Spang Chalfant's 5-point rise to 53, as contrasted with a recent low of 26, was accompanied by reports of an early merger with A. M. Byers, which incidentally fell back 4 points on realizing.

Atlantic Refining, with an extreme gain of 10¾ points at a new high record of 229¾, again led the advance in the oils, which are discounting high refining company earnings and the prospect of an early agreement on worldwide curtailment of crude. Sinclair and Superior oils also moved into new high ground.

International Harvester, Case Threshing, Radio, American Bank Note, Simmons, Union Carbide, R. H. Macy, Mathieson Alkali and Gimbel Brothers all sold 4 to 8 points higher, many of them at new peaks. Adams broke from yesterday's close of 373 to 340, Western Union and International Nickel each fell 4 points and Great Northern Ore and Briggs 2 each.

St. Louis Southwestern, Union Pacific, Wabash and Rock Island led the advance in the rails.

AMER.-MACHINE GLASS MERGER LOOMS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

A CONSOLIDATION of the American Window Glass Company and the American Window Glass Machine Company into a single organization is a possibility in the future it was indicated in the remarks made to stockholders by William L. Munro, president of both companies, in the annual report of the latter organization.

At present the machine company owns all of the common stock of the American Window Glass Company except two shares. As a result of this interdependence of the two companies, the earnings statements are often misleading to stockholders.

The principal difficulty in the way of bringing this about lies in the fact that the preferred stock of the American Window Glass Company is preferred as to earnings, and not as to assets, while the preferred stock of the American Window Glass Machine Company is preferred both as to assets and earnings. To all practical purposes the machine preferred is the equivalent of a second preferred stock of the American Window Glass Company.

"EFFORTS still are being made to work out a satisfactory plan," said Mr. Munro. "The necessity for doing this is all the greater, because the last of the original basic patents covering the mechanical cylinder blowing process will expire in March, 1929; and the American Window Glass Company is not obliged to pay any royalty on the glass made by the Fourcault process.

"It is realized that the publication of separate statements does not do justice to the stockholders of either company, and makes it difficult to judge the real value of the stock."

An additional reform would be welcome to the investing public. The balance sheets of both the companies are out of accordance with modern practice in giving the owners of corporations a true picture of its assets.

AMERICAN Window Glass Company bulks plants and real estate, which are real tangible assets, with good will, which is very intangible, as one figure on the balance sheet. Cash and current receivable items are also lumped so that it is impossible to tell the proportion of funds actually on hand from those owned by customers.

For years no depreciation has been charged against the patents which constitute the principal asset of the machine company besides its holding of stock. The patents were carried at $2,236,530 on August 31, although most of them have expired and the last will expire shortly as Mr. Munro points out.

Mr. Munro has been very liberal in giving his stockholders full information about the company in his remarks accompanying the reports, but has been backward about giving information on its financial status. The management is noted as being able and efficient. The paucity of figures and the other peculiarities in accounting which ' been mentioned in this column probably are due to the continuance of old customs rather than to any desire to delude the stockholders.

ONE reform was instituted in the report for the year ended August 31 in which the American Window Glass Machine Company ignored the unpaid royalties due from its subsidiary and reported only actual cash received. This resulted in a deficit of $34,052 for the year instead of the purely fictitious profit which might have been shown.

THE directors of the United Engineering and Foundry Company yesterday accepted the resignation of F. C. Biggert, Jr., as president of the company. Mr. Biggert expressed the desire to be relieved of the business management of the company as he believed that his value would be materially increased if his entire time could be devoted to matters of engineering and research. Mr. Biggert was elected as vice president and senior engineer.

George T. Ladd was elected president and general manager of the company to succeed Mr. Biggert. Mr. Ladd comes to the company from the International Combustion Engineering Corporation, where he was vice chairman of the combustion engineering corporation and President of the Ladd Water Tube Boiler Company and the Heine Boiler Company.

A PROGRESS report of work accomplished in coal mining research during the past three years under the auspices of the mining advisory board, the Carnegie Institute of Technology and the United States Bureau of Mines will be presented at the regular fall meeting of the advisory board called for Thursday night, October 25, at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. The meeting will follow a dinner to be held by the members at Carnegie Inn.

The report of the coal mining investigations will be given by W. L. Affelder, vice president of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, who is chairman of the mining advisory board. J. St. J. Perrott, superintendent of the Pittsburgh experiment station of the United States Bureau of Mines, will report on the progress of the research fellows who are engaged this year on mining problems, and Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will discuss the second international conference on bituminous coal to be held under the auspices of Carnegie Tech next month. In addition to reports and discussions the board will elect a chairman to succeed Mr. Affelder.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Great Banks Meet the Financial Needs of All Business

No Licensing of Crime By Magistrates Wanted

Summary disposition by magistrates of persons charged with offenses not within the jurisdiction of minor courts has long been an evil. In only minor cases do these courts have summary power. They are supposed to hold for higher courts anyone against whom there is evidence of serious crime. Yet there is record of but comparatively few liquor law violations, lottery charges or slot machine cases referred to the courts by magistrates. The implication is that there are few crimes of the nature referred to in the bailiwicks of the police magistrates or that culprits are not charged with the full enormity of their offenses.

Pittsburgh seems to have all the evils of "court licensing" without any of the financial benefits. There are, or used to be, towns which do not officially legalize gambling, bootlegging and vice, but which are or were "wide open." Every month the police would make arrests by telephone. The gamblers, the speakeasy keepers and the scarlet women would all appear and pay their fines, which went into the city treasury. There was a scale of fines, graded on the number of games a gambler operated, the prosperity of a saloon and the numerical population of a shady house. The process was repeated every month—just like paying a gas bill—part of the overhead.

That's a system. Sordid, if you will, but still a system. Do we want that kind of a system in Pittsburgh? If our magistrates and police operated it as openly and frankly as has been described, with the full knowledge of all citizens, it might be an indication that we do want it. We would show by our toleration that we approved and the blame would be on us and not the officials.

But the magistrates have failed to gauge the temper of Pittsburgh if they think it desires that kind of thing. It wants no vice or crime. It knows it must submit to a certain degree of lawlessness that occurs and will occur in defiance of authority, but it wants no official approval of criminality and that is what magistrates give by summary disposal of cases that should be held for court. Making fines in cases of major offenses is just granting crime a license to operate, as described of the "wide open" towns.

Correction of the evil is the duty of the district attorney. It is a subject that calls for the attention of the grand jury. If no inquiry is made into this matter, the investigation will be only half an investigation. The practice of the magistrates in not holding cases of commercial vice for court seems to be the key to the whole deplorable situation now under scrutiny.

It Would Surprise Bryan

Important Business Men for Smith.

Arthur T. Hadley, former president of Yale, declares for Gov. Smith. He tells Mr. Raskob: "What first decided me to vote for Gov. Smith was his courageous stand on the prohibition question."

Mr. Hadley is important in the business world, rich, active, interested in railroad and other important undertakings, a member of the executive committee of the Sante Fe Railroad.

It would amaze the late William Jennings Bryan to see a list of important business men that have declared for Gov. Smith, many leaving the Republican party to do so.

That did not happen in Bryan's campaign.

While Mr. Hadley declares for Smith, Arthur Curtis James, said to be the greatest owner of railroad stocks in the country, leaves the Republican party to vote for Gov. Smith and conduct an energetic campaign for Mr. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for Governor of New York State.

A Farm Tariff

The Country Needs It.

Senator Curtis, Republican Vice Presidential candidate, says truly that the farmer should have better tariff protection.

This country imported $36,964,435 worth of milk last year, the wool from 26,000,000 foreign sheep, eggs from several million foreign hens.

People in this country should not buy food from foreigners until they have bought and paid for all that American farmers can produce.

Underpaid Mexican labor, for instance, is ruining fruit and vegetable farmers in Florida.

A tariff that protects Pittsburgh steel should also protect Florida tomatoes, Maine potatoes, Long Island ducklings, etc.

One Russian Woman

She Thinks Well of Sovietism.

Our respectability has a horror of Sovietism, and feels sorry for Russia. Russian peasants, however, now owning land taken from nobles that did no work on it, and with the vote given to men and women, think well of their government.

For instance, Catherine Sorrokina is a voter now. When she was 14, 107 years ago—she is now 121—this peasant woman, born a serf, was sold in exchange for a gun.

Now she is a free voter in the Communist Republic, and considers that an improvement. She well may.

Plain English

Why Worry Children?

The Irish Free State decided to print everything in ordinary Roman type instead of using the ancient Gaelic type.

Even Gaelic examination papers will be in the Roman type. That's common sense, although theorists and sentimentalists object. Why worry children with an extra alphabet, which 999 in 1,000 would soon forget. The Germans, also wise, are abandoning their ancient alphabet, and Kemal Pasha, boss of Turkey, gives up the Arabic script.

Bible Passages

"Seek"

(Luke 11; 5-13.)

AND he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves;

For a friend of mine in his journey is to come to me, and I have nothing to set before him?

And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee.

I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth.

And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.

If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?

Or if he shall ask an egg, will he offer him a scorpion?

If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?

Plain Speaking

THE effort at Columbia to preserve on phonographic records distinctive American dialects reminds us that these are beginning to disappear.

The automobile, with its widening of travel, started the standardization, and the radio is hastening it.

We yet have a wide range of sectional locutions and intonations which add piquancy to Americanese "as she is spoke" and their preservation is a valuable service. But the day is not far distant when these will be rare.

The radio, too, is improving our too often slovenly articulation. Perhaps the commonest fault in American speech is indistinctness. Like the player whom Hamlet chided, we mouth and muffle our words. That does not do on the air.

Tonight, as you listen in, note the difference between those broadcasters who bring out clearly each syllable and those who slur. It will illustrate how wide the room is for improvement.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Necessary Demands

ARE you becoming too mellow? Lost most of your pep and desire for achievement?

Consequently, you don't demand aggressive work from those under you.

Rather than criticize those for whose efforts you are responsible you often allow imperfect work to be done.

If you are head of a department it is bound to reflect upon you.

If you are a proprietor you are going to find your business slipping.

If you can't keep on your toes you'll soon step down and out.

When you prefer harmony to business results, your business slumps.

If you are a business man you must take advantage of conditions.

There is no time for mellow, easy-going persuasion in a growing concern that expects to head the list of successful ones in any particular line.

If you are not willing to put emergency before ease you are a dead one in business. Remember, your head work is of more value than your physical effort.

You must create good-will, of course, but you must inspire action.

If you don't, you lose a big point to your aggressive competitor.

And you can't afford to give him any advantage.

TRUE POLE FINDER

By Garrett P. Serviss

"What is a gyro-compass; how does it operate, and where can I see one?—M. H., New York."

THE full explanation of the action of a gyro-compass involves a problem in mathematical physics which has been completely solved, but the solution cannot be set forth here. For that you must consult advanced textbooks in physics. But perhaps sufficient indications of how this wonderful compass works may be obtained from what follows.

Fancifully speaking, the gyro-compass might be described as a miniature skeleton-earth, rotating about an axis parallel with the earth's axis, so as to indicate true north, and kept pointing that way by a force arising from the earth's own rotation. As a kitten indicates the motion of the mother cat, so the little gyro-compass imitates its mother earth, and gets a gravitational cuff from her if it lets its axis go wandering.

Indications of the forces involved in this strange obedience of the gyro-compass to a directional command are to be found in the scientific toy called the gyroscope; in the marvelous (though familiar) performances of a bicycle, and in the celebrated pendulum of Foucault, by which a visual proof of the earth's rotation was first presented for all men to see, to the confusion of the "earth-flatteners," "globe-stoppers" and other befuddlers.

If you take a small, heavy-rimmed wheel or disk, with a long axle, like the one represented in the picture, and after setting the wheel spinning at high speed, rest one end of the axle on a firm support, the wheel will not fall, but together with its axle will keep up in the air and revolve around the point of support. The picture shows by the curved arrows, first, the direction of spin of the wheel, and, second, the direction in which wheel and axle swing around horizontally. The straight downn-pointing arrow shows the force of gravity, which, but for the gyrostatic motion, or "precession" would cause the wheel to fall to the ground, instead of keeping up and revolving horizontally, as it does.

What the gyroscope shows is that a rotating body tends to keep its axis of rotation unchanged in direction (illustrated in same way in the sky while it revolves around the sun), and also that if a force is applied to change the direction of the axis of rotation it produces a motion at right angles to the direction of the applied force.

In the gyroscope this force is represented by the attraction of gravity seeking to draw one end of the axis downward; in the astronomical phenomenon called the precession of the equinoxes it is represented by the attraction of the moon (and the sun) on the equatorial protuberance of the spinning earth; finally, in the gyro-compass it is represented by the "precessional" motion caused by the rotation of the earth. If the axis of this compass, which consists of a wheel spun by an electric motor on the axle, which is free to move only in a horizontal plane, is not set in the north-and-south line to begin with, the precessional force of the earth's rotation brings it into that line. If it swings past the line, the same force brings it back again. The gyro-compass is comparably superior to the magnetic compass, first, because it points true north, and, next, because it is not disturbed by local peculiarities of the earth's magnetism, or by magnetic or metallic objects surrounding it. You can find out who makes them by inquiring in some nautical instrument shop, where, perhaps, you may see one.

Tales That Are Told

When Ignorance Is Dear

THERE was unmistakably something wrong with the car, which was creeping along and making strange gasping sounds. At last it stopped altogether.

Of course, he knew nothing about cars, but then, nothing like this had ever happened to him before, so he realized the only thing to be done was to get somebody to tow him to the nearest garage.

Arrived there he disconsolately consigned the car to the care of the garage man, and asked how much it would cost to put it right.

"What's wrong with it?" asked the garage man.

"I don't know."

"Won't be less than $20."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE women are willing to do almost anything to reduce. Somehow, you never hear about the ones that don't have to reduce. It's got so that all the regular fellows among the women spend their time envying somebody's cousin that's got pernicious aenemia.

Well, they were discussing reducing at the bridge game, after they got through talking operations, and Mrs. Smithy says, "Why, some people's got all the luck, though. Mrs. Slimps was telling me she was having trouble with her husband about where they were going for their next divorce, and she lost 18 pounds."

One of the women that weighed plenty spoke up then and says, "Well, that's the bunk. I tried it for three years, but I found I couldn't concentrate on it, and I actually gained weight."

The Useless Life

"SUCH a useless life she lives," they say,
"Just folly and frivol from day to day.
Always a luncheon, a bridge, a tea,
Not a thing worth while that the world can see!"

But all men know that the world is blind;
Many the jewels it does not find.
And many the riddles it can not read
When it sets the worth of a word or deed.

Though her part was not one that the world understood,
Still it had its share in the world's vast good
For the joy she gleamed and the joy she spent
Went to swell the sum of the world's content.

Overheard in a hotel elevator: "He's so refined he often sits in a public park with all the places there are to go."

The Film That Talks Like a Man is a boon to elocution schools. Scores of actors who see in the talking movie something new about which to worry are taking up enunciation and other phases of elocutionary art. Many actors laughed at the first movies but that cured them. They are taking no chances on tittering at the "silver scream."

Raymond Ditmars was a plodding reporter—(and in round shouldered parenthesis I'd like to know who ever saw a reporter plod?) before he became curator of the Bronx Zoo. He is supposed to know more about snakes than any other authority in the world. Other reporters have acquired a knowledge of snakes but never made it pay.

Only a dozen pawnshops in New York display the customary three gilded balls of the profession. The new pawnshop has marble walls, onyx pillars and tiled floors. The effect is dignity instead of the proverbial cross roads of poverty and despair. The interest rate today is never usurious and the very rich are often patrons in sudden emergencies. The neighborhood pawnshop proprietor is scarcely able to make a living on account of heavy competition. Uncle and his skull cap has now become a polished gentleman with a braided coat and lapel gardenia.

THIS OR THAT

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

La Fontaine poetized the fable of the Ant and the Grasshopper. When the grasshopper applied to the ant for some of the stores that he had laid up for winter the ant asked: "What have you been doing all summer?" "I have been singing," said the grasshopper. "Then you can dance all winter," replied the ant.

This fable teaches us that we can't have everything, we can't play every instrument in the orchestra, if we have this we can't have that.

Carl Akeley, the famous explorer and big game hunter, who died in Africa while collecting specimens for the American Museum of Natural History, was buried on Mount Mikeno in Uganda.

It is related that while on another trip he killed his biggest gorilla on this mountain. Looking down at him he said: "I envy that chap his funeral pyre. I wish I could be buried here when I die."

Akeley had his choice, after a life of adventure that would have been the choice of some men and not of others.

He decided in favor of thrills. His stay-at-home fellows decided in favor of comforts. Each gained something and lost something by his decision.

John Ruskin says somewhere: "Do you know that if you read this you can't read that?"

What is true of reading is true of everything else.

At the long series of crossroads, which is life, we have to make our choice. We can't go both ways.

We have to choose this or that.

We choose between exploring strange lands and enjoying the comforts of home, as well as between thousands of other things.

In every town there are men who have made opposite choices.

There is the rich man who has given his time to making money; and the man who has been a companion to his children and stayed a bookkeeper all his life.

There are those who spent their money as they went, had their good time, and in old age camped on the querulous and unwilling relatives; and those who scrimped and in old age had a feeling of self-respect, and the rheumatism that kept them from enjoying their wealth.

It is altogether fitting and proper that every man should be allowed to make a fool of himself in the way he pleases. There should be a single restriction. Otherwise the lid is off.

After he has made his choice, and had his fun, there should be no complaining because he didn't get what he never paid for.

If he had a good time while others put in longer hours at work, he can't kick if they get more money or a greater share of success. If he danced while they studied, he can't be catty if they know more than he does. And so on down the list.

The essence of being a poor sport is complaining because others have the cake they saved, when we have eaten ours.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

THE family of Pavliches, Mr. and Mrs., Rosie, Johnnie, Sam, George and Olga, went out last week for a Sunday picnic in the country. They had a fine collection of lunch bags and boxes, packed here and there in the family automobile.

When they reached a fine green, with shade trees at the edge of it, they parked the car, climbed over the fence and proceeded to enjoy lunch, throwing paper bags everywhere.

A fine looking man, with white hair and loud golf stockings, came upon them suddenly, found his golf ball embedded in a chocolate cake, and roared like a lion. He would tell the club manager, and he left.

The club manager appeared and waxed wroth, whatever that is.

"What do you think this is? A public park? Who did you think you were? Didn't you know this is the exclusive Westchester Biltmore Country Club, and that no one has the right even to walk on the grass, much less scatter lunch?"

"All right, all right," said Mr. Pavlich, "but don't get so mad about it."

"I should say not," said Mrs. Pavlich, "I suppose you think that's the right way to get a lot of new members to your club? I'd like to join after the way you act! You're the kind of man who could spoil everything—and—"

But the manager was gone before they all got over the fence. Credit the manager with one laugh.

An elderly man, resident of a fashionable suburb of New York, advertised in a highbrow magazine in New York for two women to come and live at his home. He wanted educated, intelligent women, and they MUST be good bridge players. One of them must be old enough to run his servants and manage the home and superior enough to act as hostess when he entertained. The other could be younger—he wasn't particular about age. So she could play a fine game of bridge.

The gentleman, who is a widower, asked that the ladies give him three nights a week at bridge, and the other evenings they could do what they pleased. If they wished, they might entertain their friends there. He wanted them to feel at home.

To the older woman, who managed the house, he would pay a salary, quite a substantial one. The other would have all expenses paid but no salary.

Two women have taken the offer. They are high class women, and are friends. They hail from Philadelphia. They say the man is a very fine type, and there is no hokum about his offer. He is lonely and wants bridge company and congenial people around the house.

The suburbanite says that the reason he got such good results is that he advertised in a magazine read only by high class, well educated people. He felt sure he would get the right kind of answers, and he did.

To God's Country

BIG and little Americans, by the thousand, are streaming back home on the crowded European liners.

It is a safe bet that their sighs of relief on being back in God's country, if placed end on end, would reach twice around the world.

Foreign travel is the great school of patriotism.
